Craigdarroch As Headquarters Of School Board

The Greater Victoria School Board is contemplating moving its headquarters up to Craigdarroch when Victoria College moves up to the Normal School, Austin I. Curtis, school board chairman, said today.

The finance committee discussed the matter at some length in a meeting Thursday evening, and will continue to investigate what the costs of running Craigdarroch as a school board headquarters would be before any decision on the matter is made, Mr. Curtis said.

"There would be a number of decided advantages," he pointed out. "The building is more than adequate for our purposes and would give us an opportunity to house all our administration under one roof."

Present quarters in the City Hall are now badly overcrowded, he said, and it has been necessary to put the education centre and the purchasing agent's department at Central Junior High School.

He doubted if very much renovation would be necessary to convert the building into first class office quarters and board room.

Present plans call for the evacuation of the college to the Normal School by the middle of November, which would mean that the School Board could be moved in before the beginning of the year.

The upper stories of Craigdarroch would give ample storage space for all school records from all four school districts.

OTTAWA (CP)—County Judge A. G. McDougall today acquitted William A. Pappin, passport office employee, of two charges of conspiring to issue a false passport for use by a Russian agent.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government condemned in the strongest terms today what it called "slave labor" practices by Yugoslavia against persons in that country claiming to be United States citizens.

Shortage Persists

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Building materials still are in "very short supply," Reconstruction Minister Howe stated in an interview here today. Barring strikes, they should be available in "substantially greater volume" next year. He did not anticipate any marked change in construction costs until supply of materials exceeds demands.

Ottawa Trip Planned By Hart For November

Premier John Hart, believing the Dominion-Provincial Conference will not be resumed, said this afternoon he was making preparations to go to Ottawa, perhaps early in November, to discuss tax collection questions and other problems with Dominion government officials.

At the same time the Premier will probably discuss questions of the proposed increase in rail freight rate in Canada.

6 Girls Arrested

WINNIPEG (CP)—Police today announced the arrest of six girls, four of them juveniles, who are alleged to have been robbing mail boxes of family allowance cheques since last January. Detectives said the girls trailed postmen at times they thought family allowance cheques were being distributed and then took them from mail boxes and cashed them.

Where Remains Of Lost Hunter Were Found

A.P. Man Describes Night Spent With Lolos On 14,000 Ft. Mount

Julian Wilson, Associated Press photographer from Louisville, was one of only six men from the U.S. who managed to scale 14,400-foot Lianpoashan in the Wuli Mountains of wild, western China in the search for survivors of a B-29 that crashed there in March, 1945. He found the skeletal bones of one crew member which were taken to Sichuan. His story of a night in a Lolo village, where the party rested, follows:

By JULIAN WILSON

SICHANG (AP)—The Lolos are just as curious about Americans as we are about them.

Lt. Col. Herbert Wurtzler, other members of his American graves registration search team and I learned that as a Lolo chieftain, and his villagers carefully examined us, our clothes, our equipment and my cameras. They even pinched our skin.

Satisfied, they admired us and feasted us.

FIRST GLIMPSE

Some of the Lolos never before had seen white men. They didn't know until we told them that the war with Japan was over.

Our party of 50 spent one night at Lanchang, a Lolo village. The chief, Meh Lo-yu, received us cordially.

All members of the ruling class, known as Blackbones, are distinguished by black turbans, an ornament they wear in one ear, and an ever-present rifle slung over a shoulder.

It is reported that the Lolos never bathe.

The chief's house is 40 feet long and 20 wide, made of stamped mud. Windowless, it is pitch dark inside.

We spent the night at the chief's house, sleeping, or trying to, on straw mats placed on the hard ground.

Various smells in the house were distracting. So was a rooster that tried to roost on my head.

The women definitely are at the beck and call of the men. Dressed in Gypsy-like skirts and jackets, they appeared not unreasonably shy. They are fairly attractive.

The Lolos evidently treat their slaves with consideration. There are three classes—those taken while young, those trained from birth, and adults captured in raids on Lolo villages.

Slaves' tasks are not onerous and the captives share food and quarters with the Blackbone superiors.

Buys Nail at 75c

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—Nails are precious in Quesnel. Walter H. Crocker had a nail removed from a tire in a garage here. The garage man not only fixed the "flat" without charge, but gave Crocker 75 cents for the nail.

Homeless Want Trams For Conversion

Several inquiries have been received at the B.C. Electric Railway Company from veterans and others who are anxious to acquire streetcar bodies to be converted into housing units as soon as the streetcars go off the streets, company officials said here.

In other areas old streetcars have been converted into small shops and homes.

Several weeks ago an inquiry was received from one enterprising man who planned to make tourist cabins out of the old streetcars for a tourist camp up-island.

No valuation has been put on the tram superstructures by the company, although it was thought that they would not be too expensive.

In Victoria there are approximately 35 streetcars. The larger ones are 40 feet in length.

Goering Partly Concealed When Taking Poison

NUERNBERG (AP)—A theory that Hermann Goering slipped his poison vial into his mouth while seated on the toilet in a corner of his cell Wednesday night was advanced by prison officials today.

Col. B. C. Andrus, prison commandant, showing correspondents the cell occupied by the condemned Reichsmarshal, said the toilet was so located that the guard peering constantly through the door could not possibly have seen the upper part of the prisoner's body.

It was recalled that Robert Ley, Nazi labor chief, managed to avoid detection in the same way when he hanged himself by attaching a wet towel to a plumbing fixture.

The legs and feet of the prisoner were plainly visible to the guard, who was instructed to enter the cell on the slightest suspicion.

STILL A MYSTERY

How the poison vial, contained within a two-inch cartridge, got into the cell remained a major mystery. Col. Andrus said it would have been impossible for Goering to conceal the cartridge externally on his person for any length of time.

A high source, meanwhile, revealed the Allied Control Council had rejected after long and bitter argument a proposal that the brains of Goering and the 10 executed leaders who followed him in death be examined scientifically.

TO EXAMINE BRAINS

The subject of examining the brains of the men sent to death by the International Military Tribunal was raised in several sessions of the four-power council, an anonymous but thoroughly reliable officer said, but it was vetoed each time.

With the ashes of the 11 dead scattered to the winds, it became apparent here that the decision to cremate the executed men, together with that of Goering, was made only a short time before Wednesday morning's hangings, because officials in Nuernberg were preparing as recently as last Thursday for ordinary, but secret, burials.

Portrait Of Truman In Museum Slashed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington News-Herald said in a copyrighted story today that a portrait of President Truman was slashed by a vandal Thursday in the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum.

The oil painting by John Sloan was mutilated by a two-inch gash across the President's face, the newspaper said.

Million Dollar Babies Have Bonds For Investment Dealers

These two Ottawa girls, employees of the Bank of Canada, know what it feels like to have $1,000,000 of gilt-edge securities. Joan Gilmour, left, and Gwen Tetlock, are each holding bundles of the new Dominion of Canada bonds worth $500,000. These bonds may be purchased from authorized investment dealers, trust companies and banks in Victoria, but there is a limit of $2,000 to any one person. The bonds are in denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1,000. The bonds are proving very popular and during the first two days of the campaign sales totalled $25,512,300.

Nuernberg Hangman

M. Sgt. John C. Woods, San Antonio, Texas, U.S. army hangman, above, carried out the sentence of the International Military Tribunal on the 10 surviving leaders of Hitler's Third Reich. Hermann Goering cheated the noose by taking poison.

Condemned Woman May Not Testify In Other Trials

HAMILTON (CP)—On several occasions after John Dick had disappeared his father-in-law, Donald MacLean, who is charged with killing the Hamilton streetcar driver, went to Dick's supervisor and asked if there was any word about him, an Assize Court jury heard today.

This was brought out in Crown testimony during the second day of the trial of MacLean and William Bohozuk, both charged with the March 6 torso killing of John Dick.

"Sometime," said Street Railway Supervisor William Motrom, "MacLean asked for him by name, John Dick; sometimes he just asked if we had heard anything about 'that Russian'."

Through the second day of Hamilton's second torso murder trial the Crown spun its skein of circumstantial evidence in the case against Mrs. Evelyn MacLean Dick, convicted and sentenced to be hanged next Jan. 7.

The Crown's case rests largely on whether Mrs. Dick will testify against her father and one-time friend, the Canadian Press learned.

Should Mrs. Dick refuse to testify for the Crown—and her defence counsel says that is her intention—there might be an attempt to introduce into this trial her statements given police, particularly that of April 12, in which she said her husband was killed by Bohozuk March 6 in a car which she was driving at the time.

48 Suites To Be Built At Macaulay For War Veterans

Three huts taken over at Macaulay Point army camp to provide housing accommodation for war veterans and their families will be divided into 48 suites of three rooms each, A. Palmer, executive secretary of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, said today.

Conversion of the huts will begin in November, and because of the labor and material situation, the work likely will take about three months, Mr. Palmer said. The conversion of the three large huts will cost approximately $10,000, it is estimated, of which Canadian Mortgage and Housing Corporation is to bear half.

Each of the huts will contain 16 suites, the rooms in each suite measuring approximately 10 by 10 feet. The huts will be converted one by one, rather than all together, Mr. Palmer said.

Congress Chief Says Bombing Raids Needed

CALCUTTA (CP)—All-India Congress Party sources declared today that disturbances which have been sweeping the Noakhali and Tipperah districts are continuing despite Bengal government reports that the situation is improving.

Surendra Mohe Ghosh, president of the Bengal Provincial Congress Committee, said he has received telegrams from Congress workers in affected districts indicating that "recent Calcutta disturbances are paled into insignificance" compared with what is happening in east Bengal now.

Assertions made by the Bengal Moslem government that casualties are not heavy were denied by Ghosh, who said at least 5,000 have died and more than 50,000 have been affected since trouble began Oct. 10. The government is maintaining a rigid silence on casualties.

Ghosh said he based his figures on telegrams received from Congress workers in the affected areas.

"The only effective way to bring the situation under control immediately is to bomb areas where trouble has occurred," Ghosh contended.

He asserted that while some troops, mainly Gurkhas, had been moved into certain areas, there was insufficient military strength. He said only troops could completely check disturbances.

Ghosh said relief workers had been prevented from entering some of the worst affected areas.

Streams of refugees were reported moving north, south and east, away from trouble spots.

ADVISES SUICIDE

NEW DELHI (CP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi advised women in the riot-torn areas of eastern Bengal Province tonight to commit suicide by poison or other means to avoid dishonor.

The spiritual leader of India's Hindu-led Congress Party spoke briefly at a prayer meeting. Congress Party sources in Calcutta reported that the spreading Hindu-Moslem violence in Bengal's Tipperah and Noakhali districts had left thousands dead.

In the official version of his statement given out by his secretary, no reference was made to other means of suicide, but listeners fluent in Hindustani said he also advised women in imminent danger of dishonor to use knives or guns to kill themselves, or to throw themselves into the water to drown.

Wage Boost Of 10 Cents An Hour For 17,000 Trainmen In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The National War Labor Board today authorized wage increases of 10 cents an hour or the equivalent for 17,000 trainmen of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

In a second decision, the board also authorized a similar wage increase for other employees of the Canadian Pacific ranging from engineers, telegraphers and hotel employees to steel metal workers, boilermakers and maintenance-of-way workers.

The increases are retroactive in both cases to June 1 this year. The board directed that proposals for changes in rules governing working conditions affecting compensation be reserved until next Feb. 1.

DECISION MADE AUG. 26

In dealing with the increases for those employees other than trainmen employed by the Canadian Pacific, the board observed that it already had granted a 10-cent-an-hour increase Aug. 26 for C.N.R. workers in those classifications.

The increases for trainmen go to 17,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in the following railroads:

Canadian National Railways, Dominion Atlantic Railway, Canadian Pacific Railway Co., Grand River Railway Co., Lake Erie & Northern Railway Co., Montreal & Southern Counties Railway Co., Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway, Northern Alberta Railways Co., Oshawa Railway, Quebec Central Railway Co., Temiscouata Railway Co., Hamilton & Buffalo Railway Co., Toronto Terminals Railway, Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway (Ontario Northland Railway) and Winnipeg Public Market (Union Stockyards).

4 NOT INCLUDED

Four companies were excluded from the decision on the grounds they were "regional" employers and were directed to apply to regional War Labor Board having jurisdiction. They are Algoma Central & Hudson Bay Railway Co., Essex Terminal Railway, Pacific Great Eastern Railway and Sydney & Louisburg Railway Co.

The increases applying to the Canadian Pacific and previously granted to C.N.R. employees go to employees of the C.P.R. and 10 subsidiary companies, including the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway and the Railway Association of Canada.

The C.P.R. had asked postponement of the Board's decision until a ruling was given on rate increases being sought by the Canadian railways. The C.P.R. in its submission to the board had recognized the practice of uniformity in Canadian railway wages, but raised the issue of ability to pay.

In today's decision the board said the C.P.R. had shown "enormous increases" in gross earnings from $15,280,700 in 1939 to $318,871,034 in the peak year of 1944. Gross earnings in 1945 were $316,109,358 and the 1946 estimate was $278,409,000. On the other side of the ledger working expenses had risen from $122,756,880 in 1939 to $280,055,024 in 1945.

The board said it was not required by the wage control order to estimate future earnings and it held that the companies were financially able to pay the increased rates "for the time being at any rate."

Test Victoria West Residents For T.B. With Mobile Unit

A mobile T.B. X-ray unit will be set up in Victoria West Dec. 1 and all residents of the district will be given the opportunity to be tested for T.B. Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the Health Board, said today following a meeting.

The Parent-Teacher Association is conducting a house to house canvass to make appointments for all residents of the district over 15 and to persuade them to have the examination, Ald. Hunter said. It is estimated that the full examination of the district will take approximately three weeks.

The mobile unit will be at the disposal of the Health Board for three months, and during January and February it will be set up in the lot adjoining the Health Centre on Pandora Avenue, and all residents of Greater Victoria will have the opportunity of a free examination.

Ald. Hunter said that emphasis is given to having those over 15 examined, because it has been found that pulmonary tuberculosis has small incidence in children under that age.

Car, Reported As Canadian, Clue In Jewel Theft

LONDON (CP)—Ace investigators from Scotland Yard stretched a dragnet across England and into Europe today in search for the thieves who stole part of the Duchess of Windsor's jewelry, even as a military car, tentatively identified as Canadian, was described as the most important clue in the case.

Several persons living near Ednam Lodge in Sunningdale, Berkshire, scene of the theft, reported to police that a large military-type car had been seen in the vicinity of the lodge three times during the last week.

Police said the vehicle was described as a Canadian army staff car, but that the description given was not detailed enough to make its identification as Canadian certain.

Ednam Lodge, an hour's drive from London, is owned by the Earl of Dudley, banker and international industrialist and a close associate of the Duke of Windsor before the war.

$80,000 ESTIMATE

The tweed-clad Duke, who had come to England for a private, quiet visit, himself valued the loot at not more than $20,000 ($80,000). Speaking from his temporary home at Sunningdale, where the robbery was committed Wednesday night, he told British newspapermen he was deeply concerned and annoyed at "the exaggerated reports of the value of the stolen jewelry," which one British paper placed as high as $500,000 ($2,000,000). "There is absolutely no truth in the published statement that the jewelry was worth $250,000 ($1,000,000)," the Duke said. "I can understand that $250,000 makes better reading than $20,000, but $20,000 is the value."

The British Press Association said later that it had been confirmed officially that the value of the stolen jewels did not exceed $20,000 ($80,000).

The jewelry was taken from the Duchess' bedroom in Ednam Lodge by a "cat burglar" who, police said, evidently climbed an ivy-encrusted pipe to a second-story window.

GOLF COURSE ANGLE

More mystery was added to the circumstances surrounding the daring theft when searchers Thursday night found a substantial quantity of the Duchess' world-famous gems collection scattered over a golf course adjoining the grounds of the lodge.

Police combed London's underworld, tightened a dragnet around airfields and seaports and notified the Paris Surete and police in Amsterdam, New York City, Buenos Aires and other jewel markets to be on the look-out. Scotland Yard's senior detectives and post office, customs and coastal inspectors were on the case.

Discovery of the abandoned jewels prompted two lines of theory in the investigation—(1) that the thieves had been surprised in the act of dividing up the haul and had fled, leaving some behind, or (2) that they deliberately discarded pieces too well known to be disposed.

Scotland Yard's assessors still were examining the recovered jewelry today.

The Duke's solicitor, H. G. Allen, tentatively valued the recovered gems at $5,000 ($20,000).

Parker Advances In Mexican Tennis Play

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Frank Parker and Bob Falkenburg of the United States, Armando Vega of Mexico and Pancho Segura of Ecuador Thursday advanced to the semifinals of the fifth Pan-American tennis tournament by defeating their quarter-final rivals in men's singles matches.

Parker, seeded No. 1 in the tournament, downed the Mexican star, Rolando Vega, brother of Armando, 6-2, 6-2.

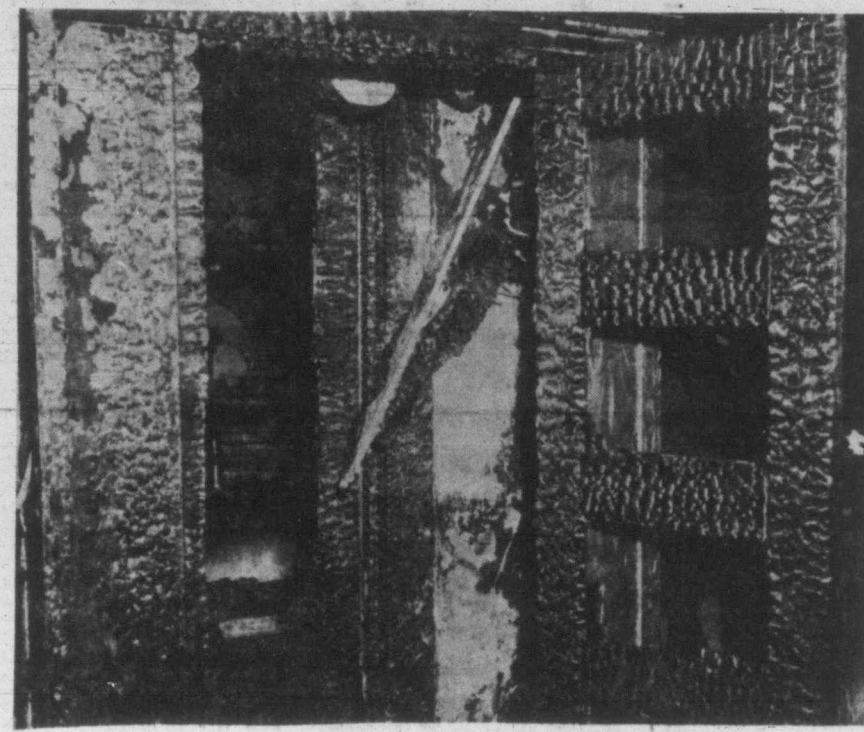

Falkenburg, seeded No. 2, defeated the Argentine Alejo Russell 7-5, 6-2, 6-3.

Armando Vega, Mexican national singles champion, defeated Tom Brown, San Francisco, Calif., 3-6, 7-5, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3, winning the game-set match point on two ace serves.

Segura won his quarter-final match by defeating Pierre Pelizza, the French champion, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Two Rooms Wrecked and Furniture Damaged In Beverley Hotel Fire

Charred interior of room 206 at Beverley Hotel.

Insurance appraisers today were assessing the damage done by fire to two rooms at the Beverley Hotel, 724 Yates, and by water to hotel furniture after a blaze at 7.30 last night that sent tenants scurrying from the hotel.

Room 205, where the fire was believed to have started, was totally wrecked. Room 206, was badly damaged by the fire. Across the hallway the door and transom of room 203 were damaged.

There was some damage by water to Tervo's Ladies' Apparel shop and the Dot Mar Cafe. The water which poured through the hallways, down the stairs and elsewhere caused damage to hotel property, especially to the lounge which was recently redecorated.

Miss Mable Peacock was the occupant of room 205 and was at the Crystal Garden at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Roy LeMarchant lived in room 206. They were at a movie. Mr. LeMarchant is a Seaford Highlander veteran and his wife is an ex-Cwac. They came here from Vancouver about a month ago, LeMarchant intending to get a job as a longshoreman. This was interfered with because he broke his arm. Mrs. LeMarchant's new fur coat was destroyed.

Deputy Fire Chief F. Brindle was of the opinion that if the fire had started in the early hours of the morning when the hotel residents were asleep the whole hotel would have been destroyed.

SEEK LOST PURSE

The more extensive damage done to room 205 is taken as an indication the fire started there. A dresser which was up against the door between the two rooms was destroyed and firemen searched the water-soaked debris this morning trying to find Miss Peacock's purse containing $25.

Andrew G. Pallow was first to notice the smoke coming out of room 205. He secured a hallway hose and attacked the flames until city firemen arrived.

The sounding of the building fire alarm and the smoke pouring through the hotel soon resulted in the people present pouring down the stairs. The fire escape was used by several women, including two sisters, Anne and Clara Milne and Mrs. W. Morrison.

It is reported there was a 10-minute delay in notifying the fire department after the blaze was discovered. The deputy chief attributed this to the fact that people were under the impression that by breaking the fire-glass in a building, it immediately notified the department. "That is not so," he said. "It is purely a local building alarm which is not connected with us." A telephone call later informed the firemen of the blaze.

E. Fenwick, manager, said the fire damage was covered by insurance.

'Ogopogo' Of Saskatchewan River Rears Ugly Head—Swallows Calf

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Alta. (CP)—A horned, fiery-eyed grey beast, his long pointed teeth flashing in the sunlight and his scaly body lashing the water—the famous Ogopogo of the Saskatchewan River—has reared its ugly head again, this time to snatch a calf from the bank of the Clearwater River and swallow it whole.

Robert Forbes, who farms seven miles south of here, "saw" it take the calf as the animal stood drinking from the river. He saw the big head rise out of the water and grab the calf. He ran to the bank, shouted and threw rocks. He was sure he hit it, but the beast paid no attention and finally disappeared under the water with its prey.

This is the first time since 1943 the Ogopogo has been seen. Other farmers have lost some stock, but they did not suspect what was happening to them until Forbes saw the monster come up and take his $50 calf.

In other years Ogopogo has been seen in the Saskatchewan River. This is the first time it has taken to the shallower waters of the Clearwater.

Since the incident a few days ago, farmer Forbes has searched along the bank, thinking the beast might be sunning himself in some shallow pool. Now, he thinks it has gone back to the Saskatchewan River and merely was on a food-foraging trip.

Forbes said he cannot afford to lose any more of his valuable stock and now waters them from a well.

His description of the Ogopogo agrees with those of others who claim they have seen it—a 20-foot grey beast with red eyes, horns and a mouth big enough to swallow a small calf or lamb.

Rock Mountain House is 78 miles south of Edmonton.

French Girl Wins

PARIS (Reuter)—The Paris Peace Conference had a gay unofficial sequel when 21-year-old Jacqueline Jamet of the conference tourist bureau staff, was elected "Miss Peace Conference 1946" at the smart Lido night club in the Champs Elysees.

The election followed a luncheon given in the palace of the conference secretariat, both events being organized by the International Committees of Journalists.

Second to Miss Jamet was Mrs. Madeleine Warren, blonde Canadian newspaper woman from Quebec.

Canadian Junior Ice Stars Dislike Scottish League

FALKIRK, Stirling, Scotland (CP)—Scotland's all-Canadian hockey set-up is functioning, but by no means blooming. Some of the 70 players who came to this country have complaints, chiefly of a financial nature, and a show-down is expected this week-end.

These "fugitives" from Canadian rinks, all from Ontario and nearly all of junior age, publicly have not reached the "or-else" stage on demands, but the word "strike" has been banded about by a few in dressing-room talk. No such action will be taken, but dissatisfaction is general.

Each of the seven clubs requested a meeting at Falkirk Sunday with Festus Moffat, president of the Scottish Ice Hockey Association. Some plain talking on both sides is expected.

The difficulties appear to stem from the complicated set-up of the leagues. S.I.H.A. has direct jurisdiction over the game, but the financial end is handled by an S.I.H.A. committee made up of representatives of each rink on a "pool" system whereby the rinks pay into an S.I.H.A. fund which in turn pays the imported players.

Squawk No. 1 of the players was registered on the first payday. Instead of the equivalent of $31.50 a week which they claimed to have signed for, each received $7 ($28). However, officials said the contract stipulated flatly $7, a figure which remained unchanged by revaluation of the Canadian dollar.

Police Officer In Palestine Killed

JERUSALEM (CP)—British authorities today sought a gang of armed youths who Thursday night shot and killed a British police officer near Zion Square in the heart of Jerusalem's Jewish section.

Police said the officer was walking along the street when he was felled by a burst of fire from the opposite sidewalk. Meanwhile, a partial hunger strike by Jews at the Latrun detention camp came to an end as 150 detainees again accepted their normal rations. For a week the strikers had taken only a small quantity of bread and tea daily.

Deadline Of Nov. 1 Set For Removal Of Most U.S. Ceilings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration's program for ridding the United States economy of federal restraints went into high gear today, with Nov. 1 set as the deadline for scrapping a majority of the wartime price controls.

A high official said that foods, services and many commodities will be taken out from under ceilings by them—two months or more earlier than had been planned before President Truman's meat decision.

For the less immediate future, he added, price lids will remain on rents, automobiles, building materials, refrigerators, furniture, basic clothing items and farm implements.

Major developments on the fast-moving decontrol front include:

1. Flour, bread and other bakery products figured in speculation as the next important food items to be freed of price ceilings. Chicago flour circles voiced doubt, however, that flour ceilings would be scrapped immediately.

NO COFFEE LIMITS

2. Coffee went off the controlled list completely. And price lids were hoisted slightly on jams, jellies, fruit preserves and men's white handkerchiefs among other things. The increases will amount to one and two cents a pound for the sweets and from seven to 14 cents for handkerchiefs.

3. The embargo on Mexican cattle was lifted at 12:01 a.m. C.S.T., today. The cattle must be fed, fattened and processed, however. Hence their entrance into the U.S. will have little or no immediate effect on the current meat situation.

4. An avalanche of meat—the biggest in 10 months—jammed U.S. livestock markets. Prices

37½% Wage Boost
For Recording Musicians

CHICAGO (AP)—James C. Petrillo announced late Thursday that an agreement for a 37½ per cent wage increase for musicians who make recordings had been reached at negotiations with eight members of the industry.

No agreement has been arrived at in demands for wage boosts for musicians making electrical transcriptions, said Mr. Petrillo, president of the A.F.L. American Federation of Musicians.

Previously Mr. Petrillo had asserted he had asked 50 per cent increases for artists making recordings and transcriptions.

Honored For Service

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lloyd George MacKenzie of Victoria, student veteran at the University of British Columbia, reported Thursday he had received a certificate from Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery commending him for devotion to duty in the northwest Europe campaign. MacKenzie served in Europe with the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards and also was a captain in the Westminster Regiment.

News Of The Island

Further Development Planned
At Duncan Tree-Growing Centre

DUNCAN—Tenders have been called by the Chief Forester for construction of a workshop and implement building for the British Columbia Forest Service at Duncan, which will mark another step in the development of the island's second tree-growing centre.

Erection of several buildings at the Duncan nursery of the B.C. Forest Service was planned during the summer, but scarcity of materials necessitated abandonment of these plans. However, the workshop and implement building are to be built, and tenders will be received up to noon Nov. 6. Plans and specifications are obtainable from forest rangers at Duncan or Nanaimo, the Forest Experimental Station at Duncan or the Chief Forester.

One corner of the 23-acre field at Duncan, where 6,000,000 seedlings planted last spring are growing, is being hollowed out to contain a pond which will be used for watering purposes in the spring and summer.

Work at the tree nursery this fall and winter consists of clearing new land, laying in tile for drainage and spreading sawdust on the seedbeds as a protection against frost.

The Duncan nursery complements the work of the previously established tree nursery of the B.C. Forest Service of Campbell River. The trees grown at Duncan will be used to reforest logged-off areas in the Cowichan district and on other parts of the island.

Canned Milk Short
In Alberni Valley

PORT ALBERNI — Concern over the shortage of canned milk in Alberni Valley has been expressed by the Port Alberni City Council, which will make an appeal to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to extend quotas for the district.

Alderman Jack Harris recommended that merchants of the district reserve their canned milk for families with babies. Mayor W. C. Hamilton secured three cases of canned milk for distribution from the City Hall.

Miss Joyce Driver, public health nurse for the Alberni district, indicated the shortage of canned milk might affect the welfare of babies.

Duncan Carnival

F. G. Aldersey reported on the 1946 carnival and J. Lindsay Loutet presented the financial report.

Catholic Women
Meet At Duncan

DUNCAN—About 150 members attended a convention in Duncan of all subdivisions of the Catholic Women's League of Vancouver Island.

The convention was opened with the celebration of Mass at St. Edward's Church by Rev. Father G. Penfold, diocesan chaplain. Mrs. A. Smith, diocesan president, welcomed delegates and members. Reports were heard on organization, education, immigration, citizenship, Red Cross, study clubs, lay retreats, Indian affairs, magazines, social service and child welfare, and the library.

Luncheon was served by the Duncan subdivision, and Mrs. A. K. Rey was hostess at a banquet in the evening. Mayor Savage of Duncan greeted the delegates at the banquet.

Mrs. F. Cannon of Nanaimo was elected diocesan president. Other officers elected were: Mrs. B. Reid, first vice-president; Mrs. P. Shaw, second vice-president; Mrs. Rey, third vice-president; Miss J. M. Clay, treasurer; Miss Ida Cassillo, corresponding secretary, and Miss M. Comerford, recording secretary.

Mrs. H. B. Swan spoke at an open meeting in the evening, on Catholic Women's League activities in England during the war. Bishop Hill congratulated the members on the convention.

Langford Fire Chief
Will Report On Truck

LANGFORD—A special meeting of the Langford Community Club will be held Tuesday to hear a report from Rodney Bayles, fire chief, regarding a fire truck.

Members endorsed the school board's request for better roads for school buses in the district. Mrs. A. F. Bayles, secretary-treasurer, reported the entertainment committee would hold an entertainment every Thursday evening to benefit the hall funds.

E. F. LeQueune asked that transportation be provided on Wednesday and Saturday evenings for four basketball teams which have been formed.

S.P.C.A. Suspension
Argued In Court

VANCOUVER—Suspension of the Victoria S.P.C.A. branch by the provincial executive Oct. 1 was "contrary to natural justice," R. D. Harvey told Chief Justice Farris in the B.C. Supreme Court here.

Mr. Harvey appeared in behalf of the Victoria S.P.C.A. officers to oppose the continuation of the Chief Justice's order of Oct. 4 restraining them from carrying on their duties or dealing with the $32,000 assets of the branch until the case against them has been tried in the Supreme Court.

Judgment was reserved by Chief Justice Farris on the request of John L. Farris that the injunction be continued. He appeared for the B.C. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which is suing Mr. and Mrs. James Barr as president and secretary, respectively, and W. Reade as treasurer of the Victoria branch for a declaration that they must turn over its assets to the parent society.

Mr. Harvey contended the branch had been suspended on the complaints of four people without further investigation by W. Ralph T. Chetwynd, provincial president, and that the action was illegal.

The Chief Justice replied that the branch officers may place their case before a general meeting and that the legality of the suspension could not be decided on the injunction application.

New Zealanders Get
Canadian Motorcars

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—The first postwar Canadian automobiles have only recently appeared on the New Zealand market, almost a year later than those from Britain. Cars from the United States still have not started to arrive.

Canadian cars which have so far arrived are all of one make and are assembled at the firm's works in New Zealand. Before the end of the year fairly large supplies of several makes are expected, however.

Standard model Canadian cars available are selling at about $2,250. This is higher than the price for popular types of small English cars of 8 to 10 horsepower which sell at about $1,600 to $1,900, but compares favorably with the larger English cars.

Next to the United States and Canada there were more cars in ratio to population in New Zealand than in any other country before the war. Although its population is still below 1,750,000, dealers estimate there is an immediate market for 100,000 cars in the Dominion if they could be supplied.

In 1938, the last full importing year, Canada supplied New Zealand with 7,697 un assembled and 39 assembled cars. This was well behind the 17,000 cars imported from Britain, but ahead of the 2,600 from the United States.

U.S. Trims Down
Army, Air Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—Flooded with volunteers, the U.S. army has ordered the discharge of Jan. 1 of all remaining soldiers who were drafted in 1945.

The announced aim of this and other orders is to lop off a fourth of the army's existing strength by the year's end.

The new directive issued Thursday included instructions by the Air Forces to discharge some 8,700 wartime air officers still on active duty, in addition to those quitting active service voluntarily.

The War Department is aiming at a total strength of 1,310,000 by Dec. 31.

Molotov Steers
Ss. Queen Elizabeth

ABOARD THE LINER QUEEN ELIZABETH EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK (Reuter)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia steered the world's greatest liner for a few seconds Thursday when he spent 20 minutes on the bridge as guest of the Queen Elizabeth's commander, Commodore Sir James Bisset.

Sir James said Mr. Molotov seemed interested in the experience, although he made no direct comment.

Commodore Bisset, who has a sure instinct for raising a laugh, said that when the flash-bulbs failed and pictures could not be taken Mr. Molotov "dropped the wheel, but we dashed forward and managed to get her back on her course."

THE PROVINCE'S RAILWAY

TOO MANY PEOPLE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA have acquired the habit of alluding to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway as if it belonged to the same joke category as the old Spanish Prisoner fraud. Too few people, on the other hand, realize that this piece of property belongs to the taxpayers of the province. Fortunately for this bountifully-endowed part of the Dominion, however, the Coalition administration has very definite and constructive views about this provincial investment. If we have correctly interpreted the main purport of the speech which he delivered to the Vancouver Board of Trade the other day, Mr. Hart feels that the time has come to study the provincially-owned transportation system in conjunction with its potential capacity to return dividends to its owners—the people. In other words, the P.G.E. must no longer remain a project which begins nowhere and ends nowhere, to use the ancient description by which it has grown unpopular with the unimaginative. Hence the Premier told his mainland audience that his government "is determined that the railway shall be extended to the Peace River district." He supported this announcement by the following argument:

"The Pacific Great Eastern Railway has performed, and still performs, a valuable function in serving communities and industries contiguous thereto. The worth of a government railway should not be measured alone by the size of its surpluses. There are many indirect revenues which the railway brings to the province, apart from those obtained from freight and passenger service. It may be that a survey of railroading in Canada today would disclose that it is not so profitable as the secondary industries which have either sprung from or depend upon the railway to serve them."

"I would also remind you that the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, as at present constituted, is a pioneer railway lending itself to the wants and necessities of the people who pioneer the country by providing low rates for commodities and encouragement for industry. While it is important that the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway be on a sound economic basis, we must not lose sight of this important factor."

Not for a long time has a provincial Premier or cabinet minister in British Columbia demonstrated belief in practical planning for the future through railway development in such optimistic terms as those employed by Mr. Hart in his Vancouver address. Nor will he be surprised if the doubting Thomases shake their heads and tell him they have heard similar expressions of hope before—especially when an election has been in the offing. But the Premier has no particular political axe to grind. He and his Coalition administration won a striking victory a year ago on their performance—the fulfillment of promises embodied in a far-seeing program of expansion under numerous heads. And it is obvious to all who believe in the future of British Columbia that one sure way of improving the province's economic prospects is by tapping its untold wealth of natural resources. By driving the P.G.E. into the Peace River district, as the surveys reveal, a vast area should be opened up to practical exploitation in the interests of the people.

WHY DIGNIFY THEM?

SENSIBLE PEOPLE THE WORLD OVER have learned with satisfaction that the Allied Control Council decided upon two specific policies with respect to the remains of the Nazi criminals. One was that the corpses should be cremated and the other was that science could get along very well without examining the brains to see what makes "a Fascist boss tick."

After what happened to the corpse of Mussolini it is strange that the occupying authorities in Germany required a lengthy debate to decide how best to prevent a ghastly exhumation of the former braggarts who only a few years ago thought they had the world at their feet. Nor is it to be supposed that the head of the Roman Catholic Church—which opposes cremation—will waste much time or many words to express official repugnance at the removal of all trace of these throw-backs of barbarism.

But why on earth should the place of disposal of the ashes remain what today's dispatches from Nuremberg call a "top secret"? Were it known for a fact that they had been sprinkled on the upper reaches of the Rhine, for example, future generations might have escaped exploitation by ingenious vendors of relics of another day. Long after this century dawned, visitors to the battlefield of Waterloo could still purchase "buttons from Wellington's coat," probably the products of a standing order for "Brummagem" notions.

And why dignify the memory of a Goering or a Keitel by implying that the brain of a modern whorlper at the shrine of Frederick the Great differs materially from that of other sadists? The men who went to the gallows in Nuremberg were the exponents of typical Prussianism—the disciples of the might-is-right doctrine. It is the world's paramount duty to eliminate this type of thugery in the international realm with the same thoroughness as that applied to the business of protecting society in the smallest community.

TARGET FOR TONIGHT

IZVESTIA'S EDITORIAL CRITICISM OF the Churchill family—father, son and son-in-law—may evoke smiles and a raised eyebrow or two in Britain. But it is extremely questionable if the reaction should go much beyond that. The press of Britain and of other democratic countries has long experience in criticizing its own leaders and ex-leaders, together with their families and, in the case of the Roosevelt's, the family dog. The Russian paper's remarks about the wartime Prime Minister, son Randolph and son-in-law Duncan Sandys doubtless seem anaemic by comparison to some opinion on the family voiced freely in the British press. And the classic reply of the late President Roosevelt to his detractors, forgiving them for their personal attacks on himself and his family but stoutly repudiating the charges of wastefulness leveled at Falla, is of too recent memory to require recapitulation.

There is something essentially healthy in a people's practice of tossing bricks at those in high office. That is part of the price of fame in a democracy. And those who have noted Izvestia's words regarding the Churchills will find a greater measure of understanding for the Russians if their papers demonstrate that freedom and independence of thought reflected in the very human activity of throwing an editorial egg or two at their own mighty.

MANCHURIA SAVES FACE

AT THE PRESENT TIME MANCHURIA is to China what the Midlands and the northern counties used to be to England. It is the potential industrial heart of all those other provinces of China which have no industrial capacity without the coal and raw materials with which Manchuria is so richly endowed.

During the Japanese occupation these natural resources were being exploited for the purpose of conquest. If they are left today in the hands of a completely hostile political party with a well organized army, the rest of China becomes economically dependent on that party. Presumably that is why Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is insistent on the Communist party first laying down its arms or in forming one National army with his own troops. The Communists, on the other hand, want to be confirmed in their present position of domination in Manchuria—at least in so far as its main coal resources are concerned.

Neither side trusts the other and the Generalissimo is trying to fight the Communists with one hand while the other is manacled by corruption among his own officials. If he pursues his present seeming military advantage, he may make the Communists lose face. If they can force him to terms, then he loses face; that would irretrievably damage his political prestige.

GIFT PARCELS TO BRITAIN

THIS WEEK'S ANNOUNCEMENT BY the President of the United Kingdom Board of Trade that more and heavier parcels will be admitted to Britain will please those Victorians who wish to make more generous gifts to friends and relatives across the Atlantic and will remind them of the advantages of early mailing. Briefly, the new regulations remove the need for import licenses, lift the limit on the number of parcels that may be received, and allow a maximum weight up to 22 pounds. The bundles, of course, must be bona fide gifts. In the near future postal authorities here will advise the public of the dates on which parcels may be dispatched to reach their destinations in time for Christmas. Advice will also be given on methods of packing and goods suitable for shipment. In the meantime, however, those who wish to make sure the presents arrive this year and not next, will appreciate the fact that parcels sent within the next two or three weeks have a greater chance of delivery by December 25 than those that leave this city a month or six weeks hence. And because the scarcity of delicacies in Britain will induce heavy mailing, the congestion will probably be extreme in December.

SUCCESS FORMULA

THE CREDULOUS READER WILL BE impressed by the challenge thrown out by an advertisement in the New York Times. In bold-type it reads: "Increase your income! Conquer fear. Develop confidence. Speak effectively." And those interested are offered a free demonstration. Never having taken such a course, we are perhaps a shade timorous. But natural curiosity prompts us to wonder what would happen if it were made obligatory study on a universal scale. We have the unhappy feeling that if everyone graduated, there would be no one left to influence, and the world might find itself in the peculiar position of being stocked, like a peace conference, with courageous experts going about practicing their abilities on other courageous experts who were too busy looking for someone to influence to be susceptible to one another's blandishments.

That, of course, is an abstract that will never materialize. And we confess that we have been influenced, in a small and personal way, by those who have learned to speak effectively, have developed confidence and increased their income at our expense. There was the book-agent who sold us four years' subscription to a magazine we did not want for $10 we could not afford, and the circus barker who let us in on a neat little 10-cent balloon for the bargain price of 25 cents. But, by and large, we have been more favorably impressed by the man who had something to say, whether or not his diction was faultless, by the man who had the courage of his convictions, and by the man who claimed an honest day's pay for an honest day's work. But then, we have never taken the course advertised in New York. Maybe our standard of values is incorrect.

Walter Lippmann

WHY MR. BYRNES HAS FAILED

MR. BYRNES and his associates, Senators Vandenberg and Connally, have not failed because they lacked patience, firmness, sincerity, and idealism, but because they have been trying to do the impossible. They have been trying by force of argument to induce the Soviet Union to yield power and influence in the territory which the Red Army has occupied. That has been their first objective in the campaign to settle the global war. They have not achieved this objective, and it was self-evident from the outset that they could not achieve it, that they could not argue the Russians out of their conquests.

What is more, Mr. Byrnes' concentration on this narrow objective was bound to deepen the division between East and West. For he has devoted more than a year of the postwar era to challenging the Soviet Union where it is strongest and the United States is weakest, where she had the least to offer, and the Russians had, in their view, the most to lose.

THE ONLY WAY that the Russian power in eastern Europe can be reduced is as part of a general world settlement. For in a general settlement the vast, rich and vital areas of the world which the western powers control would be in the balance with the area which Russia controls. In our areas we have the power to act, the power to induce, the power to compel.

In restricting the "peace conference" to the area which Russia controls entirely, and to two or three points like Trieste, which Russian power touches immediately, the United States was renouncing the very idea of a global or "one world" settlement. The basis of a negotiation was not there. Mr. Byrnes had nothing to bargain with: he could not force the Russians to yield, since he lacked military power in that area, and he could not persuade them to yield, since he had nothing to offer them elsewhere except the good opinion of their allies.

WHEN ROOSEVELT and Churchill dealt with Stalin in eastern Europe, they never imagined that they could achieve their ends except in connection with settlements that covered a much wider area. The Yalta agreement about eastern Europe, which Mr. Byrnes has been trying to enforce for more than a year, was one among many agreements touching all the main issues of the global war. The fundamental departure of Mr. Byrnes from President Roosevelt's conception of the peace-making has been in separating, isolating, and therefore overemphasizing, this one region, where the Soviets are strongest and the most stubborn, the United States the feeblest and the most ineffectual.

Mr. Byrnes has been trying to settle a world war, having excluded from the negotiations Japan and eastern Asia, the frontier of Germany and its form of government, the Japanese colonial empire in the Pacific, the Italian colonial empire in Africa. Have any right to be astonished that the peace-makers have not even begun to talk about a world settlement among the victors and with the vanquished? How could we have made any progress toward one world or even one Europe, when we have dedicated a year to talking solely about one special part of it?

MOREOVER, in the vast areas which were excluded from the peace-making but are under western power or influence, the United States has neglected to use that power and influence. If she could not or would not negotiate about them with the Russians, what was there to prevent her from organizing them to fit into the structure of the world as she believes it should be?

If Germany was not to be discussed at the Peace Conference, then at least the United States could have reached agreement with the British, the French, the Belgians, and the Dutch about the western borderlands of Germany, and about the constitutional structure of Germany in the western zones. But the U.S. was apparently too preoccupied with Trieste to think seriously about Hamburg, too interested in the Danube to think about the Rhine, too anxious to make a treaty about Romania and her oil to make up her mind about the Ruhr and its coal and steel.

If the United States could not or would not negotiate the colonial problems, she could at least have made up her mind what she proposed to do about the Italian, the Japanese, and the former German colonies. To have done some of these things would not have produced a global settlement. But it would have improved enormously American political and moral position when, as, and if she got around to negotiating a global settlement.

IF ALL THAT could be said of the strategic plan of peace-making is that it did not accomplish anything in eastern Europe, it might not be so bad. But there is worse ahead if Mr. Byrnes proceeds on the course he has been taking. In eastern Europe the alignment has been consolidated and sharpened by the insistence of the American delegation that everything be staked on narrow issues, and that every nation should stand up publicly and be counted for the Russians or against them.

If the same strategy and tactics are applied also to the German settlement, which is to be taken up at the end of November, the result will surely be dangerous to the point of disaster. For if the frontiers of Germany and the form of the German government is dealt with as have been the issues of Italy, Yugoslavia, and Trieste, sure as shooting, as the sun will rise tomorrow, Mr. Byrnes and M. Molotov will become engaged in an auction, trying to outbid each other, as they have already started to do this summer, for the favor of the German nationalists.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

The relationship of the new Russian budget to the international search for peace is more important than all of the official Soviet statements since VE-Day.

It means a reduction of more than 40 per cent in her military establishment, continued maintenance of which has been an ever-present factor in the policies of other powers.

It serves to verify the belief of those who have insisted that, regardless of what her efforts to spread Communism may lead to in the future, Russia has no intention of taking chances with war now.

It may mean a reduction of the Red Army forces which are living off occupied countries in Europe and the easing by that much of their struggle for economic rehabilitation.

It may be a verification of the widely-held opinion that Stalin puts the up-building of the Soviet Union at home ahead of ideological warfare, and that the Russians, in their postwar expansion abroad, have merely been making immediate hay out of world unsettlement.

If, as the tremendously increased budget for scientific development indicates, Russia is plunging whole hog into the race for atomic power, she is doing no more than others.

If atomic bombs for peacetime purposes cannot be produced without at the same time producing materials which can be made into atomic bombs, neither can great industrial establishments be built which cannot be channelled into war production.

The Russians say frankly that the Five-year Plan is for the purpose of making the Soviet Union strong economically and militarily.

The result is all a matter of intent. The more Russia reduces her actual military establishment, the less the world will question either her immediate or ultimate motives.

TARGETS FOR TOMORROW?

THE recent flights of the airplanes Truculent Turtle and Pacusan Dreamboat imply that in the future virtually no spot above the equator will be safe from the danger of an attack by planes based anywhere else in the northern hemisphere.

The major world capitals and industrial areas and most of the earth's oil and atomic resources lie within this area—subject to bombardment by planes that have spanned oceans or hopped over the North Pole.

By JOHN L. SPRINGER

It is quite probable that world capitals are regarding as something more than innocent merit the recent record-breaking flights of the U.S. airplanes Truculent Turtle and Pacusan Dreamboat.

The marks set by these two ships—the Turtle flew 11,237 miles nonstop from Australia to Columbus, O., and the Dreamboat hopped 10,925 miles over the Arctic from Hawaii to Cairo—are frightening in their implications. With the rapid development of the even longer-range B-36 plane, they mean that from bases in this country the United States could bomb any other major power on earth. But on the theory that other powers are not asleep, they also make it certain that any future war would see attempts, at least, to bomb the United States from afar by ordinary methods without regard for the development of rockets and guided missiles.

Many vital industrial areas remained untouched by bombs in World War II. The Russian strategy of building and moving industries beyond the Urals succeeded in keeping them out of reach of Nazi bombers. Until the last days of the war, the huge industrial empire the Japanese erected in Manchuria was unhit. All of America's industries, of course, went through without so much as a genuine air raid alarm.

PLANES ATTACK ANYWHERE

In any war of tomorrow, these targets—and every spot of importance in the northern hemisphere as well as most of those below the equator—probably could be reached by attacking planes no matter where their base.

Planes taking off from Europe, Asia or America could fly to any of the major world capitals. None of the earth's key oil fields would be safe: a flight from north-eastern United States, involving a mere 6,000 miles, would be as easy for the planes of a new war as the London-Berlin flight was for planes of the recent one. And at the same time distance alone would not be a factor to prevent an European or Asiatic foe from making a bombing attempt against the oil fields of Texas or Oklahoma.

The geographical areas in-involved in the development of atomic energy—the sources of thorium and uranium and plants in any of the world's major countries engaging in atomic research or production—likewise could come under the bombsight of an enemy's aircraft.

Offensive warfare took all the inroads over the defence in World War I. Neither Britain in the war's early days, nor Germany nor Japan in the late ones, was able to keep bombers from coming in against them. Despite all sorts of strategy, the British could not shoot down one of Hitler's V-2 rockets. Scientists all seem to agree that there is no defence against the atomic bomb.

Smashing speed records, sitting on flagpoles and engaging in other sorts of endurance contests has become the thing to expect of Americans enjoying themselves after the war. The flights of the Turtle and the Dreamboat at first appraisal might seem to fall into that classification. But when one considers the application of such flights in war—and by planes carrying atomic bombs—the implications are somewhat different.

Try For Transit Vote To Electorate At December Poll

Strong efforts will be made to have the unified transportation franchise ready to go to the rate-payers of the four municipalities at the December elections, Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the Greater Victoria transportation committee, said today.

Depending on Saanich's decision tonight on the specifications, copies of the advertisement are ready for air-mailing to Vancouver, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal to appear Tuesday.

The bidders will be given 30 days in which to submit their tenders, and the transportation committee then has seven days in which to consider them, enter into negotiations on terms and make a recommendation to the four municipal councils.

"It will be cutting it pretty fine to get everything done in time, but there have been so many unforeseen delays already in our work, that I don't wish to hold it up any longer," said Ald. Diggon. "We must get our transportation system working." He said that he had the consent of the other members of the committee for the action now being taken.

Liquor Commissions May Meet in January

All problems of liquor distribution are expected to be discussed at a meeting of provincial liquor commissioners scheduled to be held in January at Montreal, W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the B.C. Liquor Control Board, said here today.

Commenting on a report from Toronto which said Hon. William Griesinger, chief liquor commissioner of Ontario, believed the commissioners may discuss whether or not to retain the wartime proof strength of liquor at 70 per cent, Mr. Kennedy said he had no specific information about that question but all problems would be discussed.

By a wartime measure the Dominion government established 30-underproof liquor, but the Dominion controls were removed in August, 1945. The provincial commissions have since retained liquor at the wartime strength.

8 Perspicacious People

* According to Webster, this five-dollar word means clear-sighted—of acute mental vision or discernment... which pretty well describes the "eight out of ten" who plan to invest in Canada Savings Bonds.

IN RECENT ADVERTISEMENTS we have been suggesting that the way to save money is to have a plan and stick to it.

Now comes this Dominion Government savings plan, ready-made for your needs. It enables you to add to your present holdings of Victory Bonds by the same tried-and-true method you used during the war, paying for your purchase in cash, if you like; but better still by convenient instalments, as you earn.

You found out for yourself, with every Victory Bond you bought, that this is a savings system that works... convincing proof that you can "save some for yourself."

Simply call at your Royal Bank branch, sign an application for one or more bonds, to be paid for by convenient instalments spread over a year if you wish. Keep up the war-time saving habit. Invest in Canada Savings Bonds.

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS

- Are as good as cash—backed by the Government of Canada...
- Can be bought for cash, or by instalments out of income, at any branch of this bank...
- Can be bought by salary deductions at your place of employment...
- Can be sold at any chartered bank any time, for what you paid for them, plus earned interest...
- Are available in four denominations: $50, $100, $500 and $1,000.
- Are registered—each bond you buy is registered in your name at Ottawa.

Naval Service's Civil Servants Form Amalgamation

All classes of naval services employees met last evening at the Esquimalt Legion Hall to form a naval services group of the Amalgamated Civil Service of Canada.

Lawrence Fieldhouse, president of the Victoria Local Council, addressed the large gathering on the aims and objects of the association and answered numerous questions while G. K. Beeston, secretary, explained the financial workings. E. Francois of the Canadian Naval Auxiliary Vessels stated that their section was now organized 100 per cent.

Elections of officers resulted in the following: President, Frank D. Hickman; first vice-president, E. L. Gail; secretary, Mrs. M. A. Hales. Delegates to the Local Council include the executive officers and R. F. J. Brophy.

The next meeting of the organization will be held on Nov. 3, at a place to be announced later. The new president announced that over 100 paid-up members in the naval services were now enrolled.

Future Of Arctic As Aerial Highway Outlined By Foster

Stressing the fact that Canadians should understand the position and responsibility they hold in regard to the tremendously important place the country has in world affairs by reason of its vast natural resources and its place in aviation of the future, Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Thursday afternoon, enlarged on the vast possibilities over the Arctic, of which Canada is the hub.

With Russia and Canada between them controlling two-thirds of the Arctic and Canada being named headquarters of the World Civil Aviation Authority, he said, Canada's position in aerial navigation is of great importance.

Contrary to popular belief, the climate of the northland is suitable for air navigation and will become the aerial highway of the world, he said.

Gen. Foster also revealed that the airdromes built for defence and the supplying of the much-needed supplies to Russia during the war provided the finest chain of airfields on the continent. The Alaska Highway, which skirts these airdromes, is equipped with emergency landing fields at about 200-mile intervals and negotiations for refueling facilities for civilian travel are now being considered.

Concluding, Maj.-Gen. Foster said the surest defence against the atomic bomb was the creation of international goodwill and the surest way of creating international goodwill was for Canadians to have a knowledge of their own land, a united people, and toleration and knowledge of the viewpoint of others.

Women Missions Workers Praised

Many rural missions, abandoned because of lack of ministers, are being opened again by courageous women workers. Mrs. C. Maxwell Loveys of Toronto, told a meeting of the Women's Missionary Society at Chinese United Church.

Mrs. Loveys, who has traveled from Newfoundland to the Pacific coast, visiting mission stations in isolated districts, gave a vivid word picture of the most northerly mission and hospital at Battle River, Alberta; the hospital at Cold Lake, Alberta, and the Indian Missions.

She spoke of women missionary workers at the Japanese camp on the cold shores of Lake Superior and of an interesting school and church serving 75 families in the Laurentian Mountains in Quebec.

Mrs. D. A. Girvin, president of the Presbyterian, presided at the meeting and thanked the speaker. Mrs. Wong welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Chinese United Church.

A report on the work of the church was given by Miss Lottie McRae, devotionals were led by Mrs. H. J. Cromie, Mrs. G. L. Gillard sang two solos and Mrs. J. W. Alton gave a review of missionary literature.

Mrs. Chow, wife of the new minister at the church was introduced to the gathering and received a gift from the Presbyterian.

Early Resident Passes

The recent death of Mrs. Agnes Anderson left another gap in the rapidly thinning ranks of early residents of Victoria.

Mrs. Anderson, who was over 90 years of age, was born in 1856 in Newlyn East, Cornwall, and came to Canada over 74 years ago. She lived in eastern Canada for a time, coming west with her parents over the Union Pacific to San Francisco, before the Canadian Pacific Railway was completed.

The family settled in Victoria West where they were associated with early community life in and around St. Saviour's Church.

Her husband, Walter J. Anderson, predeceased her and since that time Mrs. Anderson lived with her only surviving sister, Mrs. A. E. Wade at the family home, 933 Mears Street.

In her later years she was an indefatigable knitter and was recognized by the Canadian government for her knitting during the First World War. During the last war she knit many pairs of sailors' stockings for the navy services.

Besides Mrs. Wade there are two nieces and two nephews surviving, Mrs. G. W. Miles and Miss Agnes Morris of Victoria; Mr. C. E. Wade, San Francisco, and J. W. Morris, Los Angeles.

THE SITUATION: A house guest forgetfully leaves some small possession your home.

Stuffed Wieners Stir Appetites

Preparing, good, attractive wholesome meals is a challenge today. It's a clever homemaker who can prepare such food and not shrink the family purse until it resembles a very thin pancake.

Here's a recipe that is not only penny saving but one which will stir the jaded, end-of-summer appetites of the entire family.

Stuffed wieners—3 tablespoons fat; ½ cup chopped onion; ½ cup finely chopped celery; 14 wieners, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley, 5 shredded wheat biscuits, crumbled; 1½ cups finely cubed bread, salt and pepper to taste, ½ cup of hot water.

Saute onion, celery and two finely chopped wieners in fat until onion is tender. Remove from heat and add parsley, shredded wheat, bread, seasoning and hot water, toss lightly. Split wieners lengthwise, almost clear through. Heap a generous amount of stuffing on cut surface of six; top with remaining wieners and fasten with toothpick or string. Place in a large pan, cover and bake in moderate oven (350 F) 35 minutes. Serves six.

Clubwomen

Tapestries Shown—Mrs. F. W. G. Clarke showed a collection of tapestries and relics brought from China where she had lived for 24 years, at a meeting of Loyal Group of Metropolitan W.A. held at the home of the secretary, Mrs. E. E. Colbeck, Poul Bay Road. The president, Mrs. J. T. Taylor, was in the chair, and Mrs. L. Hollings and Mrs. E. W. Whittington took the devotionals. Mrs. A. Farfit presided at the table assisted by Mrs. W. L. Smith and Mrs. H. McConnell.

China properly washed, then rinsed in very hot water, dries by itself on a dish drainer.

Be Thrifty—Bread crumbs need not be wasted, use them in a regal pudding with an orange sauce and thus serve them to the family without any apologies for your thrift.

Perfect With Sausage—Steam, mash, season and whip winter squash until light. Add a few broken nut meats and a handful of sweetness—raisins.

For Extra Flavor—Thyme, you know, of course. But have you ever added a teaspoon of thyme leaves to your pot roast while it is cooking?

Try This One—Cook three-minute eggs and chop them up. Spread griddle-cakes with the seasoned eggs, roll, hitch with toothpicks and serve with hot bacon; if you can get it.

English Idea—Add crisp bacon bits to cooked oatmeal. Chill in loaf pan, slice egg and crumb, brown in drippings, top with eggs.

Apple Fritters—Dip apple slices in sugar and lemon juice, then in batter. Fry in deep fat. Dust with sugar and serve with the main course, luncheon or dinner.

Main Dish—Arrange tomatoes in thick slices, alternating with sliced cold ham and buttered crumbs, a little sugar added with salt and pepper. Four over this three or four beaten eggs and bake.

Save Fat—To clarify drippings, melt slowly, add three or four slices of raw potato. Heat till dark particles collect around slices. Remove potato and pour fat through two thicknesses of cheesecloth into container; cover, store in refrigerator.

Sauteed Liver—Slice one pound liver thinly and evenly. Pour one cup tomato juice over liver; add a clove of garlic on a toothpick and let stand 15 minutes. (Tomato juice tenderizes even beef or pork liver). Using fork, lift slices of liver from juice and drain. Dip into flour, coating each slice lightly. Melt four tablespoons fat in heavy skillet till hot. Saute liver one and a half minutes on each side. Add salt and pepper and serve from heated platter.

Pumpkin Pie—Two cups pumpkin pulp, one-half cup molasses, two tablespoons melted butter, one-half teaspoon cinnamon powder, a little nutmeg, cloves, ginger, salt and allspice powder, three eggs, one and one-half cups milk.

Bake one large pastry shell in hot oven about 10 minutes, mix together above ingredients in order given, adding the milk gradually to keep mixture smooth. Pour into partially-baked pastry shell. Bake in moderate oven for one and a half hours, or until silver knife inserted in centre comes out clean. Serve warm and if possible, top with whipped cream.

Chocolate Thrift Pudding—One square unsweetened chocolate, one-third cup milk, one-third cup sugar, dash of salt, one-half teaspoon baking powder, two cups fine soft bread crumbs, one teaspoon vanilla, one egg, beaten until thick and fluffy. Add chocolate to milk and place over low flame. Cook until mixture is smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Add sugar and salt and stir until sugar is dissolved. Remove from fire and add baking powder, bread crumbs and vanilla and mix well. Then add egg and mix lightly. Turn into individual custard cups and bake in moderate oven for 25 minutes. Serve with cream or orange sauce.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man of 20, very much in love with a girl of 17. She loved me until recently when she told me that she felt she was too young to be going steady with anyone. I have tried every way to change her mind, but have failed.

I love her very much and want to see her happy. What should I do?

H.W.
Answer: If you really love the girl and want her to have a happy life, you will not try to overpersuade her into a marriage for which she is not ready and which will be almost sure to end in disaster. On the contrary, you will constitute yourself as a sort of guardian angel by being her best friend who is watching over her and protecting her from the wolves who always are looking out for such a little lamb as she is.

At 17 no girl is fit to marry and for one to do so is like putting top heavy burdens on a filly. It crushes her with responsibilities she is not strong enough to bear and the result is that by the time she should marry, she is a disillusioned, bored woman—old before her time.

THIS 32-page booklet is put out by the CBC for the express benefit and education of radio announcers and those who aspire to be radio announcers.

Credit Bureaus Know All About You

(Second of two articles)

By MARC J. PARSONS

Don't look now but your credit is showing.

Even your best friends don't always know you as well as your local credit bureau. And what the credit bureau doesn't know already, it can find out in a very short time if it gets a legitimate request for the information.

In the files of the nation's associated credit bureaus is information on 4,000,000 people. Only established businesses dealing in credit have access to this information and then only for the purpose of establishing credit should such a request be made to them.

Most credit requests are of "trade clearances." These cover data already on file about any given person. Chances are that should you request credit and there is no information filed under your name, it will be assumed that your credit is good and the request will be granted.

JUDGMENTS RECORDED

But any information filed there will be forwarded to the merchant from whom you request credit. This will include, if available, all charge accounts you already have and a record of your usual payments—30 days, 60 days, 90 days or unsatisfactory. If any judgment have been rendered against you for non-payment of bills, records of these will be there. And if any newspapers have carried stories that in any way might reflect on your credit, these also will probably be there.

In large metropolitan centres credit information is teletyped to the stores making the request so that after you have asked to open a charge account and even before you can select that new dress or suit, the information necessary to make a credit rating is in the hands of the credit manager of the store.

In smaller centres, credit rating requests usually are telephoned to the credit bureaus.

If the information in the trade clearance isn't sufficient for a credit manager to make a decision, he can ask for a "special report." On such requests the credit bureaus do a thorough job of checking up on you.

Every time the busy buying public, shown in the background here eagerly snapping up some postwar linens, rings up the word "charge" on the cash register, it rings a theoretical bell in the nearest credit bureau, where chances are the buyer's financial fingerprints are on file.

Specially trained "reporters" will make a check of landlord, neighbors, grocery stores where you usually trade, neighborhood drug stores, your employer and anyone else that might know about you in a general way. They'll try to size up the type of home you have and how you care for it; how much rent you pay; how long you have lived there.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORTS

Such reports are considered very confidential, and there has been no known case in the history of the credit bureaus of misuse of such information. You need not fear going into strange city and asking for credit. It may take a little longer for your request to be filled, but the chances are you'll get the new charge account.

Retail stores in general are most interested in how you pay your bills at other stores. Finance companies are more concerned with law suits in which you may have been involved, and for them, most credit bureaus maintain a comprehensive file of every known law suit.

Here are a few simple rules that will almost automatically assure you of a good credit rating:

1. Pay all your bills promptly when due, including charge accounts, installments, bank notes, rent and utility bills.
2. Keep your personal bank account in good order.
3. Don't return an abnormal amount of merchandise after you have charged it.
4. Don't hide any pertinent information from stores where you are seeking credit.

Follow these rules and watch your store manager grin happily when you say: "Charge it, please." You're a good risk and he wants your credit business.

Both ministers said earnest consideration was being given the needs of the Kootenays and that the whole province would benefit from a large road program once men and equipment were available.

week. The settlement covers a period of one year. This strike began June 23. Local 80, United Rubber Workers (C.I.O.) was the union involved.

Settlement Of 3 Major Strikes Eases Canada's Labor Situation

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's troubled labor front brightened today as conclusion of three more strikes left only a dozen to be settled in the wave of 20 major strikes which paralyzed some branches of provincial industry since last summer.

Thursday night's settlements at the Chatham and Windsor plants of the Chrysler Corporation, Dominion Rubber Company at Kitchener and Anacoda American Brass Company at New Toronto followed much the same pattern—concession and compromise agreements. There were indications the remaining 12 strikes were headed in the same direction.

The Anaconda strike, called five months ago today by Local 811, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.) to obtain a 19-cent-an-hour wage increase and 40-hour work-week, ended on the bases of a 12½-cent-an-hour increase and provision for reopening negotiations should the cost-of-living index rise four points over its figure for September, 1946. Number of employees idle in this strike was 1,400.

Though the Anaconda strike was of the longest duration, the Chrysler strike lasted 121 days and the Dominion Rubber strike lasted 115 days.

End of the Chrysler strike came with acceptance by the workers of the Rand formula for union security and wage agreements guaranteeing hourly-rated employees a 12-cent-an-hour increase, and an additional three-cent-an-hour increase for minimum-rated employees. Revised vacation plans also are included.

Some 4,000 workers were affected by the strike, called by the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.).

Owner Of Kennels Alleges Libel By S.P.C.A. Officials

A $3,000 libel action has been filed in Supreme Court against James Barr, president of the Victoria Branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, John L. Weeks and Donald Hamer, both S.P.C.A. inspectors.

The action is taken by Hyacinth Margaret Melish, proprietress of a dog kennel in Saanich, for alleged libel contained in two reports, one signed by the two S.P.C.A. inspectors and the other by James Barr.

The plaintiff alleges that the two inspectors allegedly wrote a letter to Barr in connection with the way she ran her trade. She further claims that Barr in turn wrote to the Saanich Municipal Council requesting that her kennel license be canceled.

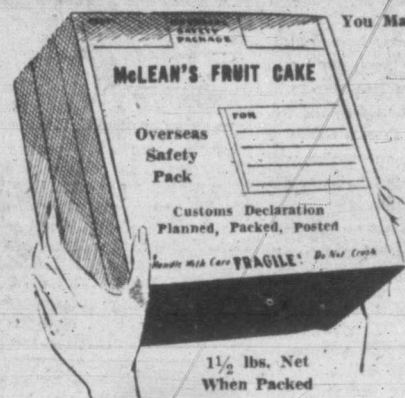

The council at a meeting decided to take no action on the letter.

Mrs. Melish claims that the facts contained in the letter were false and its publication injurious to her trade and as a result is demanding $3,000 damages.

Counsel for the plaintiff is H. W. Davey.

Conservative Group Restricts Members To Victoria Riding

The Progressive Conservative Association of Greater Victoria, at an annual meeting held Thursday night, adopted a resolution restricting membership to electors of the Victoria federal riding.

The resolution, moved by R. A. Wootton, president of the Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association, read: "Resolved that the constitution of this association be amended to provide that no person shall be a member or hold office in this association whose name is not upon or entitled to be placed upon the list of voters for the federal riding of Victoria, excepting honorary members."

Following adoption of the resolution, unqualifying members present withdrew. The resolution was opposed by Capt. H. W. R. Moore, chairman of the constitution committee, who said it was in the best interests of the party that as many as possible of the "active, energetic Progressive Conservative personalities of Southern Vancouver Island should be included in the association of this riding so that it might speak with greater authority."

Sinclair Elliott was re-elected president of the association.

Other officers elected at the meeting were: Mrs. R. D. Harvey, first vice-president; W. H. M. Haldane, second vice-president; Robert Green, third vice-president; William Duck, secretary, and J. F. Johnson, treasurer.

Elected to the Victoria executive were Percy Payne, Peter McKinnon, H. E. Ker, Mrs. F. MacKenzie and Robert C. Campbell. The Oak Bay executive comprises G. A. Cameron, Capt. L.

S. Daynes and Mrs. D. C. F. MacArthur.

Members of the Esquimalt executive are Mrs. C. H. Smith and Robert McVie.

A resolution was adopted asking John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, and Conservative members of Parliament to use every effort to increase the old-age pension.

Father Suspended Children Over Well, Mother Complains

"I don't know of anything more cruel than hanging a child over a well upside down," said Magistrate Henry C. Hall Thursday afternoon in Saanich Police Court in handing down his judgment in a Deserted Wives Maintenance Act case.

Evidence showed that the husband used to suspend his children over a well as punishment. "That is mental cruelty—which is the worst type of cruelty," the magistrate emphasized. He pointed out that such tactics may also have been injurious to the children's well-being.

The wife with her three children left her husband as a result of his treatment of the children.

Magistrate Hall ordered him to provide his wife and children with $15 a week, starting today. Defendant's counsel said that was more than his client earned. To which the magistrate said $15 was little enough for four people to get along on. He advised the man to get out and do some more work.

To Hire Electrician For School Work

Because electrical repair work in the Greater Victoria schools has grown to such an extent that it takes the full time of an electrician, the street lighting committee felt at its meeting Thursday that the School Board should have some say in the appointment of the man who will do the job, Ald. F. G. Mulliner, committee chairman said.

A joint meeting will be held with the building and grounds committee of the board to discuss appointment of an electrician to replace the workman who has left the city employ to rejoin the R.C.A.F.

Vandalism in the city is costing citizens hundreds of dollars, Ald. Mulliner said, with literally dozens of the street lights being deliberately broken every month. It costs $3 a globe for replacement, he said, and in some districts such as Quadra Street and sections of Government Street, whole blocks of lights have been destroyed.

Several street lights will be installed in districts where it has been found that services are already in and very little wire will be required for the new lights. There is still no indication of wire supplies being available for the street lighting program until after the beginning of the year, he said.

Milk Price Boost May Bring Charge

TORONTO (CP)—Dairies selling milk at more than 13 cents a quart may be open to prosecution under the Ontario Milk Control Act, J. Palmer Kent, deputy city solicitor, says.

His opinion on the legal position of dairies in increasing the price of milk to 16 cents a quart from 13 cents is based on the disclosure in the Ontario Supreme Court Thursday that the Ontario Milk Control Board had not approved any increase in the price of milk and that it would not issue any order or approve any agreement giving legal effect to a price increase pending the report of the Royal Commission and action on it by the Ontario government.

Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow Thursday dismissed an application by Mrs. Elizabeth Morton, Labor-Progressive candidate in the Toronto-Parkdale federal by-election, for an injunction restraining the Milk Control Board from increasing the price of milk. W. B. Common of the Attorney-General's Department said at the hearing that the board had made no order and did not intend to make one.

Warrior, Uganda and Crescent To Make Fall Pacific Cruise

The fall cruise program of warships of the Royal Canadian Navy, which will bring the 18,000-ton aircraft carrier Warrior here and send the Esquimalt-based Uganda and Crescent into tropical waters to meet her, was announced today by Naval Service Headquarters in Ottawa.

The new destroyer Nootka is also to take part in the fall cruise program, but will not come to these waters.

New entries will be able, under the program, to receive maximum sea training and the ships will be able to take part in naval exercises and manoeuvres.

The program is timed to coincide with the cruise of the Warrior, scheduled to leave Halifax Nov. 5 and reach Esquimalt Dec. 14 to operate on the west coast during the winter months.

When the Warrior sails, she will be accompanied by the Tribal class destroyer Nootka, which will accompany the carrier to Kingston, Jamaica, and the Canal Zone before returning, by way of Bermuda, to Halifax Nov. 29.

The Crescent, sailing from here, will rendezvous with the Warrior Nov. 21 off the coast of Central America, from where the ships will proceed to Magdalena Bay, Mexico, to join the cruiser Uganda, also sailing from Esquimalt.

From Nov. 27 to Dec. 3, the three warships will remain at Magdalena Bay, continuing their training program in the area off lower California.

The Warrior and Nootka are presently engaged in flying exercises off the coast of Nova Scotia and the Uganda and Crescent are carrying out training in B.C. waters.

B.C. ports which will be visited by Uganda during October and the early part of November include Maple Bay, Cowichan, Skidegate, Alert Bay, Comox, Nanaimo and Vancouver. From Oct. 20 to 28 the Uganda will be here to take part in Navy Week ceremonies.

Crescent is at present taking cadets from the Royal Roads Naval College to sea for short training periods.

during the cruises will be San Diego, Calif., where the Crescent will refuel between Nov. 11 and 13 and where the Warrior, Uganda and Crescent will visit from Dec. 5 to Dec. 9.

BY PETE SALLAWAY

ANOTHER of those athletes who was stationed here with the services during the war years has come back to the city to make his permanent home. He is Max Turner who was prominent in boxer lacrosse while located out at Pat Bay with the R.C.A.F. back in 1941-42-43. A native of New Westminster, Turner played with the famous Salmonbellies back in 1937. In 1941 he played defence with old Jokers club here and two years later moulded that hot air force club out at Pat Bay that lost the British Columbia playoff to the Salmonbellies in four games. "That was a good club we had that year and I was really sorry when a posting took me away just before the series opened," Max said. "You will remember the air force boys took the first game and made it plenty tough for the fishermen in the other three battles they lost."

MAX, who has returned to Victoria to introduce a new type of construction business along with a partner, spent five and a half years in the R.C.A.F. and after his departure from these parts earned his commission as a flight lieutenant and proceeded overseas. While stationed in Yorkshire in 1945, Turner organized a five-team lacrosse league among the Canadian boys and it was a great success. "Those English people really liked the game and by the end of the season were just as rabid fans as the Canadian followers," he said.

MERE male athletes of Canada kind of take a back seat with the awarding of the Lou Marsh Memorial Trophy to Barbara Ann Scott, noted Ottawa figure skater, as this Dominion's outstanding athlete for 1945. It is the first time since the trophy was donated that a member of the fair sex has crashed the winner's circle. A charming miss of 18 summers, Barbara Ann is already a tried artist and holds the added distinction of being the youngest competitor to ever win this high honor.

ALTHOUGH she skates eight months of the year, Miss Scott still has found time to take up other hobbies. She is an accomplished pianist and has taken her student's license at the Ottawa flying field. She soloed after two hours of dual flying. Barbara rides well and is better than an average swimmer and diver. It was in 1944 that she took the Canadian senior figure skating title and this she successfully defended last year, going on to Madison Square Garden for her greatest triumph yet, the North American senior women's championship. This year she must make her choice of defending these titles or going to Europe where the international judges would see her skate. Miss Scott is one of Canada's number one candidates for a victory in the 1948 Olympiad. Barbara Ann Scott is a true champion and one that promises to keep Canada in the fore in her particular line of athletic activity.

Cage Squads See Action In Games Tonight, Saturday

Three games are on tap for the hoop followers tonight at the Victoria High School gym with Chinese Students battling MacDonald's in a senior B division feature event.

Spencer's meet K.V.'s juniors in the curtain raiser at 7, followed an hour later by a senior C game between Army and Navy Vets and Mooney's.

The Army and Navy Vets, new entry in the senior A division, will make their first start of the season Saturday night when they tangle with K.V.'s. The vets, handled by Reg Clarkson, former member of the U.B.C. Thunderbirds, are composed of most of last year's Alcos intermediate A team and some of the senior B Black and White five.

Clarkson will pick his starting five from such casaba artists as Joe Davis, Vince Clarkson, Larry Booth, Gordie Creed, Joe Bryant, Bob Gibson and Ian Brown. Besides handling the coaching duties Clarkson will also be seen in action on the maple court.

K.V.'s dropped their opener to the Legion on Wednesday by one point and will be shooting for a win when they take the floor against the vets. A girls' game between Hot Shots and Hep Cats will start at 7, with the middle match on the card bringing together Emcas and K.V.'s in an intermediate B boys' match.

Organize Booster Club To Assist Junior Ice Team

A Booster Club to assist the junior ice hockey club of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association in raising the necessary finances to cover traveling and incidental expenses for the coming season.

Delay in the construction of the arena here has caused recurrence of the problem of transportation of the team for weekly workouts and games at Nanaimo, and officials of the club have issued an appeal to all Victorians to subscribe to the Booster Club.

The hockey association has, in the last few years, tried to keep the interest of hockey alive in the city by arranging practices and games up-island, and equipment and traveling expenses are estimated to amount to $3,000 for the coming season. The iceless hockey lads from Victoria turned in outstanding performances in past season by capturing both the island and coast juvenile titles.

Subscriptions may be sent to Ivan Temple, 1325 Minto Street, or Doug Fletcher at Box 2363 R.R.4. A receipt will be sent to all subscribers.

PRACTICE SUNDAY

The junior team will meet for Sunday's practice at the Blue Line Taxi Stand Yates Street, at 10. Equipment will be picked up beforehand at 1324 Minto Street Friday or Saturday evenings.

The following players are requested to turn out: McCousland, McCarthy, Stenmark, Kilbourne, J. Reid, Quickfall, Bertrand, Holding, Aitken, Griffin, B. Reid, Shepherd, Shoale, Rossiter, Stephenson, Ellis, Oberg, McBeth, Donaldson, Geiber, Hind, Pearl, Parker, Grove, J. Krause, D. Krause, Fyfe, Benson, Davyduck, Keats, Davis, Ritson and Smith.

Keiser Leader In Knoxville Golf

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Despite a run of three holes on which he lost four strokes to par, Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio, fired a one-under-par 71 Thursday to take a one-stroke lead at the halfway mark of the $10,000 Knoxville invitational golf tournament.

Keiser, winner of the famed Augusta Masters last April but who hasn't won a tournament since, duplicated his 35-36 nine of Wednesday for a 36-hole total of 142, one notch ahead of Clayton Heafner of Chicago, who had Thursday's best round with a 69.

Undesirable Personnel Faces Tough Time In U.S. Racing

NEW YORK (AP) — Spencer J. Drayton, president of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau, announced today that the bureau has instituted a country-wide identification program as a further step in the elimination of undesirable personnel from United States racing circles.

While some finger printing and photographing of personnel has been done from time to time at several tracks, the bureau plan seeks to unify the program on a national basis, Drayton said. He explained that the bureau

Dominoes Stars May Answer Call To Join Professional Cage Club

If current rumors around the basketball front are any axiom, the 1946-47 edition of the Victoria Dominoes hoops team will be considerably weaker than the powerful aggregation that swept all before it in the Canadian championship playoffs last season.

Three of the brightest stars of the Canadian 7-champions are said to be contemplating displaying their hoop wares elsewhere this season, and their loss would seriously hamper the club in its quest of another Dominion title.

According to the grapevine, Norm Baker, probably one of the greatest basketball players ever developed in the Dominion, Porky Andrews, coach and leading playmaker of the Dominoes, will join the veteran Art Chapman, long one of the outstanding casaba artists of the game and representative on the Olympic team of 1936, in playing for the Vancouver entry in the Northwest Professional Basketball League this winter.

Doug Peden, who recently returned to the city from a season of professional baseball with York of the Interstate League, has also been prominently mentioned as another member of the Canadian champions who has received tempting offers from officials of the Vancouver club. Peden, also a member on the 1936 Olympic team, played for the locals most of last season, but did not see action in the Canadian playdowns because of his baseball commitments, is recognized as one of the greatest natural athletes ever developed in the city.

If this emigration of hoop greats takes place, it will leave a void in the local hoop ranks that will not be filled for many years to come, as the Victoria team has been one of the chief contenders for national honors as witnessed by their splendid record in capturing the Canadian title five times.

When interviewed on the subject, two of the players concerned refused to deny the rumor, but on the other hand would make no definite statement regarding their future plans.

Dave Nicol, manager of the Dominoes, on being questioned today, said he knew of no such move by his players.

Major League Baseball Stars Visitors

Reynolds, Galehouse Thrill Baseball Fans

Class and skill as represented by the best in baseball was the order at Athletic Park last night as the team of touring major league players treated close to 1,000 fans to a clever exhibition during the course of defeating an Island all-star club 18 to 4. Actual score didn't mean a thing to the fans as they thrilled to the brilliant pitching performances turned in by Denny Galehouse, St. Louis Browns; Allie Reynolds, New York Yankees, and Bert Sheperd, Washington Senators.

Reynolds who was recently traded to the Yanks by Cleveland in exchange for second baseman Joe Gordon, was the most impressive of the three. While the majority of his infield gathered around the shortstop position and talked over their plans for spending the winter months, Reynolds fired a blinding fast ball and sharp-breaking curve ball past six batters in two innings. Although not as fast, Galehouse displayed beautiful control in working the first five innings.

The sixth and seventh frames saw the big leaguers put on a bit of clowning during which time the colorful Red Kress, head coach of the New York Giants, and Bob Swift, Detroit Tigers' catcher, exchanged positions and Sheperd, only player in the big leagues, wearing an artificial limb, showed the fans the loss of a leg is no handicap to his baseball playing. His ability to throw, hit and run the bases was a source of amazement to the spectators. During the early part of the game Sheperd played first base in a capable fashion.

How About A Game With Our Mustangs?

With an over supply of open dates and plenty of confidence it issues a challenge to any and all. Any football team brave enough to think itself a worthy opponent can contact the orphan through the Fort Lewis public relations office.

flow of chatter with the customers in the grandstand, got serious long enough in the sixth inning to line drive the ball over the centre-field fence. It was a tremendous drive and was good proof of just what the visitors could do to a baseball when they meant business.

Altogether the big leaguers picked up 20 hits from the offerings of Tommy Musgrave, Stan Curry, Bill Prior and Doug English and most of them were of the line drive variety. Gene Handley, Philadelphia Athletics' second baseman, and Al Zarilla, St. Louis Browns' outfielder, each picked up three for four.

Of the eight hits gathered by the island club, third-sacker Rookie Wright and second-baseman Roy Sheperd of Duncan gathered two apiece.

Short score follows: R H E Major Leaguers — 18 20 0 Island All-stars — 4 8 2 Batteries—Galehouse, Sheperd, Kress, Swift, Reynolds and Swift, Kress; Musgrave, Curry, Prior, English and Smith.

Close To 300 Dogs Show At Double Exhibit Tomorrow

With a record entry of 230 dogs in the all-breed show and 60 in the terrier specialty, the Victoria City Kennel Club will open the doors of the Bay Street Armory at 10:30 tomorrow, when judging will commence. Two judging rings will be in operation from that time with Mrs. Eva Hill of Van Nuys in one judging the terrier entry in the all-breed event and Joe Dodds in another, selecting the best of the toy group to be followed by his judging of the non-sporting group; until 1:30.

An hour later, Ray Marshall of Seattle will judge the terrier specialty and Mrs. Hill will pass on the working and sporting groups. Immediately after the judging of the specialty event is concluded Dodds will judge the sporting hound group. The evening judging will commence at 8, when the selection of the best terrier, best sporting, best non-sporting, best toy, best working

The quiet right-winger scored in the first and final periods. Defenceman Ken Reardon snagged the other tally when he converted George Allen's pass in the middle frame.

Rangers battled hard but goalie Bill Durnan's quick action and Montreal's tight defence kept the disc from denting the champion's cage.

Both teams showed plenty of fight and aggressiveness as 12 penalties—six to each side—were handed out and plenty more rough tactics satisfied the fans but left the participants penalty-less.

A healthy free-for-all threatened in the closing period as Rangers' Grant Warwick grabbed centre Ken Mosdell of Montreal by the neck and dragged him to the ice—throwing punches at the same time. Both were penalized.

Rene Trudel, Church Russell and Cal Gardner, brought up from New York Rovers, New York farm team, towards the end of last season, showed plenty of spirit as a line but couldn't compete against their more experienced opponents.

An old Ranger warhorse, veteran Neil Colville, bumped hard on the team's defence.

Montreal play their second game here Saturday night with Boston Bruins as guests.

The price the Yugoslavs paid is a story about which the world knows too little. According to the figures which have been given out, more than 1,650,000 Yugoslavs died during the defence of their country. The total includes those who died in battle and the civilians who lost their lives through bombing or other causes connected with the war.

If the figures are true, Yugoslavia ranks at, or near, the top in suffering from the war. More Yugoslavs died than British, French, Canadians, Australians and Americans combined.

When we speak about losses in a war, it is well to remember the difference between "casualties" and losses in dead. A man killed is a casualty, but so is a man wounded or missing. Often a casualty list includes prisoners. The figures I have quoted are for the dead alone. If they are correct, they mean that 11 out of every hundred Yugoslavs died in the Second World War. ## Second Acclamation Seen For Mayor George In Civic Election

Acclamation for a second time in the post of Victoria's mayor was foreseen today for Mayor Percy George, as Ald. H. M. Diggon, who has been most frequently mentioned as mayoral candidate in past weeks, stated that he had "definitely decided not to run for mayor."

No other candidates for the mayoral post appear in the offing at the present time, as all other aldermen coming up for re-election disclaimed any intention to try for other than an aldermanic post.

Ald. Diggon said he would run for the aldermanic post again, because he wished to complete the job he had started in getting a unified transportation system for Victoria, and also the efficiency survey of the City Hall.

Ald. F. G. Mulliner, Ald. D. D. McTavish and Ald. J. A. Worthington have all indicated that they intend to try for the council again, and Ald. J. D. Hunter, fifth alderman coming up for re-election has made no announcement, although it is generally conceded that he will run again.

B. J. Seed has been nominated to carry the labor banner, and George Wilkinson, secretary of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, said that he is seriously considering running because he has been "deeply perturbed to note that so many people are willing to criticize the City Council, but none of them are willing to run for office."

Waldo Skillings, school trustee, has been approached to run for the council this year, he said.

R.C.A.F. To Build Armory Here For Auxiliary Squadron

A modern armory, to be headquarters for an auxiliary R.C.A.F. squadron and the air cadets of Greater Victoria, is in store for Victoria in the near future, Air Vice-Marshal J. L. Plant, officer commanding Western Air Command, said today.

Negotiations with the city on the purchase of a site for the armory are progressing, it was learned. Air Vice-Marshal Plant said construction of the air force would start as soon as property had been acquired and supplies of building materials were available.

An auxiliary R.C.A.F. squadron, No. 409, will be formed here next spring, it was reported, and probably will consist of four fighter-type training planes and eight jet-propelled fighters.

It is expected the new squadron will be headed by three Victoria officers.

The armory will be established in the city because the distance to Patricia Bay makes use of the airport impractical for air cadet and other ground activities. Flight training and air operations, however, will be undertaken at Patricia Bay air station. Five buildings at Macaulay Point camp will serve as temporary headquarters for the auxiliary squadron and the air cadets pending the construction of the armory, Air Vice-Marshal Plant said.

REORGANIZE AIR CADETS

It is expected the armory will get much use from a Greater Victoria Air Cadet Squadron, recruiting for which will get under way almost immediately.

The squadron will be known as No. 89 Squadron, and will be formed under the direction of P. C. Routley, chairman of the regional committee of the Air Cadet League in British Columbia.

Applications are now available from Mr. Routley. "With the realization that the youth of Canada will provide the backbone of this country's future air defence and further the air development of Canada's untold resources in the northern hinterland, the Air Force Officers' Association has extended its full support to the formation of an air cadet squadron in Greater Victoria," officials of this organization said in a statement.

It was mentioned that 23 of the leading air cadets of Canada will participate in a trip to England next year as guests of the Royal Air Force.

Pictures Of Nazis' Bodies May Be Seen

BERLIN (AP) — American Military Government Headquarters said today the official photographs taken at the execution of 10 Nazi war criminals in Nuernberg Wednesday will be reviewed by the Allied Control Council Monday to decide whether any shall be released for publication.

Previous indications have been that the pictures—labelled top secret—were to be filed for historical and record purposes only.

but at the present time he feels he should have another term on the school board before entering the municipal field. He said, "I'm running for some civic office this year, but I don't know which yet, although the school board has the edge at the moment."

DAVIES FOR POLICE BOARD

Former Ald. T. W. C. Hawkins and former Ald. W. H. Davies have been mentioned as possible candidates, but today Mr. Davies announced he had decided to run for police commission. "A man in business cannot afford to give the necessary 60 per cent of his time the aldermanic job takes up," Mr. Davies commented. "I feel that I can make a contribution as police commissioner."

Ald. B. J. Gadsden will come up for re-election on the police commission and he has announced he will stand.

All school board members will come up for re-election in their respective municipalities this year, but to date most of them have not announced their plans.

M. A. Edmonds, who represents Saanich on the Greater Victoria School Board, said that he would be willing to run again if the electorate felt that his experience could be of any value. "It depends on how the vote is to be taken in the Saanich wards as to whether I will run again," he said.

Austin I. Curtis, school board chairman; Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, Oak Bay; R. M. Lockhead, Oak Bay; and Maj. R. H. Green, all said that they were considering their future course of action and would make announcements within the next two weeks.

Posthumous Award

FL. LT. IAN MCINTYRE

Mrs. George Leeden, 610 Dundas Street, has received from the Department of National Defence for Air, the Operational Wings and Certificate of Recognition awarded posthumously to her son, Fl. Lt. Ian McIntyre for gallant service performed.

He was born in Vancouver and educated there, completing his education at Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill. While living in Victoria, he was employed by the V.M.D. plant No. 1 on Bay Street, joining the air force in May, 1941.

After receiving his wings at Yorkton, Sask., he went overseas and was engaged in operational flights from England, piloting Lancasters during 1942. Later he was transferred to Malta and then to Tunis. It was during the first raid on Naples at the start of the Sicilian invasion, while piloting a Beaufort bomber, that he lost his life. This was on July 13, 1943. The mission was successful but on the return journey they were attacked by fighter planes and as a result Fl. Lt. McIntyre and his entire crew were reported missing and no trace of them has since been found.

Harvesting Started Of Christmas Trees For Export Market

Harvest of Christmas trees to brighten homes throughout the continent for Yuletide now is under way in the East Kootenay dry lands where the finest Christmas trees in the provinces are produced.

What the total cut will be this year depends on shipping facilities and demand, but it is thought the export of Christmas trees from the province this year will equal or exceed the 1,880,280 trees shipped last year. The 1945 shipment was valued at $237,555.

Shortage of railway cars is expected to hold down cutting in the interior. As in 1945 a considerable quantity of Christmas trees are expected to be shipped out of the Kootenays by truck to Alberta and northern states of the U.S.

Bulk of the trees cut in British Columbia will go to the midwestern states and the Atlantic seaboard. Because of the dryness of the soil the Douglas firs grown on bench lands of the East Kootenays are considered the best Christmas trees of the province. Growing slowly these trees have thick foliage and do not drop their needles as do other faster-growing trees of the coast.

A considerable quantity of Douglas fir trees are also expected to be cut on the coast, mainly for the local market. Some black spruce from the northern interior is also expected to be exported.

Christmas trees in 1945 represented 7.36 per cent of the total value of minor forest products exported by the province.

Gordon Head Centre Needs Entertainers

More concerts are needed for patients at the Health and Occupational centre at Gordon Head R. F. Pepper, recreational supervisor, said today.

He pointed out that patients were unable to come into Victoria for entertainment and that the centre had to rely on various organizations for entertainment.

Pupils of the Florence Clough School of Dancing put on a concert for the centre Thursday night. Those who participated were: Marlene Vance, Shirley Woodward, Doreen and Shirley Pearson, Darlain Newing, Ada Mae Hall, Patsy Gallagher, Iace Raskelly, Patsy Gilson, Beverly Carlson, Lois Moore, Judy McCormac, Sharon Frankham, Annette Tanner, Darlain Dovey, Patsy Richardson, Doreen Bull, Gary Richardson, Ronny Percell and Mary Graves pianist. Two patients, Frank Reynolds and Jack McLean, cartoonist, also contributed to the entertainment.

Bacteriological tests of dishes in Victoria and Esquimalt restaurants are continuing. Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the Health Board, said today following a meeting. He praised the co-operation shown the sanitary inspectors by restaurant owners.

British War Bride Weeps At Abundance Of Food In Victoria

On her first shopping expedition in Victoria, Mrs. John Ross, a British war-bride, wept when she saw the abundance of food on display in downtown stores.

After six years of rationing in England with little or no change in diet, the sight of the food and goods was too much for the Englishwoman.

"I just had to cry when I realized I could buy what I wanted," she said.

Mrs. Ross, a Londoner and mother of two children, recently arrived in Victoria to join her husband whom she married in England in 1942. She and Mr. Ross, a former member of the Royal Canadian Engineers, are now living at the Balmoral Apartments on Douglas Street while awaiting final arrangements to take over a home in Saanich.

The food situation in England was worse than it was during the war, according to Mrs. Ross, who pointed out that what was given to her in one meal aboard the train would have equaled a week's ration in England.

Conscientious mothers were depriving themselves of proper nourishment in order to keep their children healthy as children got about half as much food as Canadian children, she said.

ONE EGG A WEEK

Mrs. Ross said they were only allowed one egg a week, one pint of milk during the cold months as dairy production was not as high during the winter season. Fruit was scarce and hard to obtain, and just before she left England there was talk of rationing potatoes, the mainstay of the British diet.

She also said that black market activities were on the increase. She pointed out that a dozen eggs on the black market cost as high as five dollars.

Mrs. Ross said that most of the children who were aboard the repatriation ship were ill due to the change of diet. She said most children at first were unable to stomach the Canadian diet after feeding for months or years on the plain British food.

She was surprised to find that British dolls were for sale in Victoria as these were unobtainable in her own country, and was of the opinion that Canadian women did not realize what it was to suffer from fear and want.

The Englishwomen wouldn't talk about her wartime experience, but her friends will tell you that she went through the harrowing experience of being buried underneath a pile of debris when a doodle bomb dropped on a building where she was staying.

She was finally extricated from the wreckage and left on the sidewalk. When she regained consciousness she found herself lying beside a victim whose head was decapitated.

But Mrs. Ross wouldn't talk about these experiences. She just said: "I'd rather live under a haystack with rats than go through those bombing days again."

Retiring

Mrs. A. I. Spurgin, who has been secretary of the Family Welfare Association in Victoria for the past six years, announced today that she had resigned and would retire from social service work. Her resignation was accepted with expressions of regret by the Family Welfare Association board meeting Thursday. Mrs. H. Campbell, of the present staff, will act as general secretary until a new appointment has been made.

In reports presented at the meeting, emphasis was laid on the increased amount of work because of the insecurity felt by families during the reconversion period, and rehabilitation costs have been high.

"Hope was expressed that the Community Chest campaign would be continued until the objective of $100,000 had been reached because of the difficulty in cutting budgets any further without seriously curtailing the work of the agency."

Soviet Gets Turks' Straits Reply; Flat Rejection Reported

ANKARA (AP) — A detailed reply to the Soviet Union's second demand on Turkey for joint defence of the Dardanelles was delivered to Russian representatives here today. Informants said they were certain the Russian proposal was flatly rejected.

Turkey was reported to have turned down the Russian plan for administration of the vital strait only by Black Sea powers, and to have frowned on any bilateral conversations with the Soviet Union preliminary to an international conference for revision of the 1936 Montreux Convention governing the strait.

Informants said Turkey probably proposed again an international commission to determine whether Turkey had complied fully during the war with the terms of the Montreux Convention.

The Russian note of Sept. 24, renewing proposals for joint Soviet-Turk defence of the strait, charged that Axis ships had used the strait during the war. In her reply to the original Russian note, Turkey conceded some vessels had passed through illegally, but said Turkey felt able to demonstrate she had acted in good faith in enforcing the terms of the convention.

Man Sentenced To Prison On Narcotic Charge

A sentence of two years' imprisonment less one day was imposed by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court on Gavin M. Sinclair, who pleaded guilty today of using a forged document to obtain narcotics from two Victoria druggists.

Counsel for the accused, W. A. Brethour, pleaded for a light sentence on the ground that Sinclair had married six weeks ago and was now trying to settle down. Character witnesses were also brought to the stand and testified that Sinclair had been behaving himself and was giving no one any trouble.

Mrs. Sinclair, wife of the accused, also took the witness stand, to testify as to her husband's good behaviour.

"Did you know that he took narcotics?" asked the judge.

The witness hesitatingly replied that she knew that formerly he took narcotics but had thought he had got rid of the habit.

"This is a very serious charge said the judge in rendering sentence. 'The maximum sentence is seven years imprisonment.'"

He pointed out that the accused had a previous record, but agreed to reduce the sentence by one day, which means that Sinclair will go to jail instead of penitentiary.

Sinclair was accused of trying to obtain morphine from two druggists, John A. Pearcey and Bert A. Aaronson. The prescription he used contained the forged signature of Dr. A. G. Smith.

B.C. Fire Chiefs See Army School

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP) — British Columbia Fire Chiefs got some surprises when they visited the Canadian Army Fire Fighters' School conducted here by the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineering.

The chiefs stared in fascination at a soldier surrounded by flames, but he didn't need help. The soldier, Sgt. Maj. Bob Wain, was clad in a 65-pound asbestos suit. He walked into the fire with a "fog" applicator which extinguished the flames.

The fire act was part of a special display for the delegates to the annual convention of the British Columbia Fire Chiefs' Association.

To Talk Peace If Chiang Quits War

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chinese Communist headquarters at Yenan broadcast to the world today that it will negotiate for permanent peace if Chiang Kai-shek will demonstrate his good faith by abiding by the January cease-fire agreement and all agreements reached since then.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, in effect rejected Chiang's Wednesday peace proposal, transmitted through Gen. George C. Marshall.

In Hilarious Film

A lady who stows away on a train without ticket or reservation in order not to lose sight of two marine flying officers, is the central figure in Mervyn LeRoy's bright new comedy, "Without Reservations," now being shown at the Capitol Theatre. Claudette Colbert and John Wayne are starred, and Don DeFore heads the supporting cast.

G.I.'s have a name for this kind of lady. They call her a "beetle." But Miss Colbert, who plays the role, is not a "beetle" in the picture. Actually she's a lady novelist on her way to Hollywood in connection with the filming of one of her novels.

Jaroff's Cossacks
Come Here Tuesday

An invasion of marching men will strike Victoria on Tuesday, when Serge Jaroff and his 32 booted Cossacks take over the Royal for an evening of their world-renowned singing and dancing.

The Cossack choristers last year celebrated their 25th anniversary since their dynamic little leader welded them into a singing ensemble in Constantinople in 1920. Now well into their 6,000th concert, and 2,000,000 miles of concert-touring, they have annually for the past 16 years regaled audiences in more than 120 cities of the United States with their organ-voiced liturgies, haunting folk songs, and galloping Cossack and soldier rounds which were sung by their own ancestors down the Valley of the Don since the days of the Cossack hero Stenka Razin.

Living as they sing, under a military discipline self-imposed by democratic rule, they two years ago embraced U.S. citizenship en masse.

They are still Russian, however, to the soles of their shiny black boots, as their audiences across the country enthusiastically testify. They will appear here under the local sponsorship of Hilker Attractions.

Murder Melodrama
On Dominion Screen

In "Home Sweet Homicide," the melodrama now being shown at the Dominion Theatre, a novelist becomes involved in a murder case.

With the help of her children, however, she succeeds in solving the mystery, and in having the criminal brought to justice. The cast include Lynn Bari, Randolph Scott, Peggy Ann Garner and Ailys Joslyn.

Britain Not To Resell Canadian
Wheat Bought At Fixed Prices

LONDON (CP)—The United Kingdom does not intend to resell Canadian wheat it will buy under contract during the next two years at prices which have been 30 per cent less than current open market rates, Food Ministry officials say.

The four-year agreement with Canada for wheat purchases, setting the price for the first two years at $1.55 a bushel, with minimum prices of $1.25 and $1 for the last two years, has a clause permitting the United Kingdom to dispose of the wheat and flour wherever the government deems expedient, with no restriction on either destination or price.

Asked whether they anticipated sales could be made to other countries from the 600,000,000 bushels to be bought in four years, authorities replied: 1. The United Kingdom is unlikely to take advantage of the resale clause as long as there is a world shortage of bread grains. All quantities taken from Canada under the contract will be required by the United Kingdom to meet its supply responsibilities while the shortage remains.

2. When world supplies become easier, the United Kingdom might then decide to take advantage of the resale clause, but an increase in world supplies probably would be accompanied by a fall in prices.

Because of the minimum price provisions of the contract for the last two years, Britain might be faced with a loss rather than a profit on resales made to other countries.

United Kingdom spokesmen said the contract provisions were appreciated, but the benefits were not all on one side and the final agreement represented the outcome of detailed negotiations.

While Britain will benefit from prices lower than the prevailing world rate for the first year or two, the Canadian producers have the advantage of a guaranteed market and a minimum price in the last two years, they said.

The hair, like the rest of the body, receives its nourishment from the blood, and it reflects the state of one's health. Persons ill from any cause may notice a definite change in their hair, which will improve as they do.

The hair, like the skin, is constantly exposed to dirt and smoke, and it should be shampooed at least every other week. Dandruff of the common variety, in which dry scales collect on the scalp, is an indication of poor hygiene and not of disease. The rare types of dandruff, which are due to disease, should be treated by a physician.

Dandruff "cures" are essentially cleansing agents and usually are of no greater value than soap and water.

OIL COMBATS DRYNESS
Excessive dryness of the hair is counteracted by keeping the hair and scalp clean and by putting additional oil on it. Any type of oil (mineral oil, olive oil, etc.) will do.

Excessive dryness may be due to disease. Deficiency of the thyroid gland, for example, in which the patient becomes overweight, the skin thickens and scales, and the movements become slow and deliberate, produces excessive hair-dryness.

Grey hair is produced by an excess of air in the hair (in and around the hair cells of the individual strands).

The claims made for vitamins which are guaranteed to restore the original color of hair are unfounded. The sole basis for these statements is a few experiments on animals in which extreme dietary deficiencies produced changes in hair color; the normal hair-color was restored, of course, by feeding the animals normal diets and extra vitamins.

Instead of trying to change grey hair, one should prize it. In young individuals it is an attractive frame for a youthful countenance, while in older persons it is a proper complement for the aging changes in the face.

There are no absolutely safe hair-dyes. All varieties have given trouble at one time or another.

Baldness of a certain type seems to run in families. The condition is, of course, more common in men, and if it develops before the individual reaches the age of 30 there is not much that can be done about it. Scalp hygiene (cleanliness) is just as important for individuals with thinning hair as it is for those who have a full head of hair, but it does not halt the loss of hair.

Some of life's major tragedies involve the extreme depression which often follows baldness in young men; the failure to rationalize the loss of hair has required confinement in an institution for the mentally ill.

Many young men who lose their hair feel that their attractiveness for members of the opposite sex is gone. The average woman, however, discounts personal appearance in selecting her mate.

Permanent-waving of the hair as a rule is a harmless method of making straight hair curly, for naturally-curly hair is formed that way in the scalp. Damaging reactions to the materials used have been reported in susceptible subjects, however.

By NANCY HODGES

RADIO REACTIONS

SEVERAL TIMES within the last few months my phone has rung and the voice at the other end has politely announced: "This is a radio survey. Would you please tell me what program you are listening to just now?"

As I have never happened to have had the radio turned on at the time of the inquiry, my contribution to the survey has been valueless.

But I have often wished that, instead of merely asking what program I was listening to, said voice had asked me what I thought of the program.

Because, after hearing some of the stuff that comes over the radio, I wonder how it ever got on the air and whose choice it represents.

AUDIENCE RESPONSE

THERE WAS A TIME when I marveled at the seemingly spontaneous laughter and applause with which the studio audiences greeted situations and sallies which, to an unseen audience, sounded infantile, to put it kindly.

And decided that the so-called comedians taking part must be much funnier to look at than they were to hear.

Until an occasion arose when I, too, was part of an audience at a show which was being broadcast over a wide network, and then my eyes were opened.

Prior to the program going on the air, the audience was prepared and "pepped up" for its role by a persuasive young man who reminded me of a co-ed cheer-leader.

PEPPED UP

HE WARNED US that it would never do for the great, unseen audience—who evidently had their ears glued to their radios—to think that the program "wasn't going over big in the studio."

Besides which, he further reminded us, the sponsors—whom I will call "Pansy's Purple Plush Pellets"—would also be listening in and must be induced by our reaction into thinking that the show was a "wow."

So he begged us to applaud loudly, whenever he gave us the signal in order that our enthusiasm (?) might impart itself to the great unknown on the other end of the ether.

To achieve the desired result, at the end of each musical number he advanced to the front of the platform and with pantomimic grimaces, contortions and handwringings, wrung applause, catcalls and whistles from the more exuberant members of the audience.

COMMERCIAL CANDOR

AS FOR ME, I was in a state bordering between groaning at the quality of the fare offered and laughing myself hysterical over the "phony" sale-psychology patently pursued by "Pansy's Purple Plush Pellets."

And that forgettable experience has always made me skeptical as to the sincerity of the apparently spontaneous laughter and applause which greets certain of the "commercial" comedians.

Needless to say, I am not referring to the really first-class programs of humorous wit with their top-flight artists and entertainers.

But to those which feature an exchange, as I said before, of such inanities and vulgarities that I wonder if my hearing is getting defective, especially when it is followed by shrieks of laughter from the studio.

THERE TO CRITICIZE

ALL OF WHICH lent added interest to an article I saw in a mainland paper the other day, under a New York headline.

It appears that the National Broadcasting Company has been experimenting with a new idea—audience critiques.

Three hundred run-of-the-mill radio listeners, invited to give their candid opinion, recently sat in its studio and waited for the overture of a semi-classical concert.

They were there as a jury, to give their verdict on a show which, if they approved, would be recorded for a Sunday afternoon program.

Each was given a pencil and paper and asked to score specific points of the show under the headings "good," "fair," or "poor"—plus other comments.

"PLEASE, NO PLUGS"

THAT AUDIENCE certainly made the most of its chance to "talk back" at the radio, something some of them had longed to do for years!

One salesman in the crowd opened up an old wound at the middle "commercial." He not only marked it down as "poor," but also added: "Please, no plugs—they're no good."

I sympathize with him—knowing what it is to be listening to an item of world-shaking news then, without a pause, to hear a nauseating blurb about somebody's "activated" something-or-other, calculated to grow hair even on haddocks.

All along the aisles those 300 testers scathingly denounced the "commercial" on the margins of their scorecards, we are told.

So let us hope this experiment will lead to the ultimate elimination of some of those irritating which all too often mar what might otherwise be highly entertaining and educational programs.

Probe Vote Fraud

In Truman's County

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today began a probe of an alleged vote fraud in the Democratic primary election last August in President Truman's home county, where Enos Axtell, a newcomer to politics here, backed by the President, defeated Representative Roger C. Slaughter for renomination in Missouri's Congressional Fifth District.

The F.B.I. began its investigation following a series of stories by the Kansas City Star containing charges of irregularities at the polls.

New Board Chairman

OTTAWA (CP)—A. G. Bailey of Ottawa has been appointed chairman of the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Commission at Calgary, it was learned today.

SALMON ARM, B.C. (CP)—Edward Bugg, a wanderer, likes to live in jails and he got his wish here. He heaved a rock through a store window, saying he wanted to "go to jail." The sentence: Thirty days in jail with hard labor.

U.N. Assembly To Tackle Trusteeship At Coming Session

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—Definite promises of trusteeship agreements from Britain and Australia today virtually assured creation of the important United Nations' Trusteeship Council at the coming session of the General Assembly, set to open in New York Oct. 23.

These, together with agreements already submitted by France, would provide the necessary number of trust territories required for establishment of the council, only major organ of the U.N. not yet in operation.

The only factor which might delay creation of the council is the possibility that the Assembly might fail to approve the trusteeship agreements, which outline terms under which the trust territories would be administered.

Informed quarters said an Australian agreement on New Guinea had been completed. While submission of British agreements on Tanganyika Territory, the Cameroons and Togoland was not so imminent, British circles said the agreements were virtually completed and definitely would be turned in during the Assembly session.

The two agreements submitted by France concern French Togoland and the French Cameroons.

Boys' Parliament To Resume Here

The Older Boys' Parliament, not held in Victoria since 1938, will be resumed at the Parliament Building at Christmas time this year, it was learned here today.

Proclamations for the election of delegates will be made shortly. The parliament is sponsored by the Christian Education Consultative Council of British Columbia and representatives of the Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian and United Churches and the Y.M.C.A. are expected to attend.

Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, will serve as Lieutenant-Governor.

Following objection of certain legislators the parliament in 1939 was held as district council meetings in the Kootenays, Okanagan, New Westminster and on Vancouver Island in 1939. The following year operations were suspended.

Royal Arcanum Head On Visit To City

Little New Material Needed For Alterations

Alterations to be effected at the Provincial Normal School building, Richmond Avenue, so that it may jointly house the Normal School and Victoria College, will consist mostly of removing light partitions erected by the army when it used the building during the war as a military hospital.

Very little new material will be needed.

Provincial works department officials, who have not yet received formal orders to go ahead with the work, said no redecoration would be attempted at this time because the changes would be made as speedily as possible so that Victoria College students would not have to continue in their overcrowded Craigdarroch building.

It has been estimated the work will take about one month.
